ETHIOPIA TO RETAIN SEAT IN ASSEMBLY

Canada Votes With Thirty-
Eight Other Nations to Recognize Delegation

EFFECT OF DECISION
MAY BE FAR-REACHING

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.
GENEVA, Sept. 23.—By a roll call of votes the League of Nations Assembly tonight decided Ethiopia remains. Forty-nine votes were cast. Of these, 39 voted yes; four voted no, and six abstained.
Prime Minister King, for Canada, was among the thirty-nine voting yes. The four voting no were Hungary, Austria, Albania and Ecuador. The six abstentions were Bulgaria, Panama, Portugal, Siam, Switzerland and Venezuela.
Under assembly rules, only an absolute majority was necessary. This tonight would have been twenty-two. With a vote of thirty-nine affirmatives, Ethiopia therefore won easily. "Justice has been done," Premier Mackenzie King said.
The assembly will likely take Austria, Hungary and Albania with him.
The assembly's decision came after a swift change in scene. The credentials committee again held meetings, morning and afternoon. They "at one time thought" so much of the report to the assembly, "of referring the question of Ethiopia's credentials to the court of international law at The Hague for an opinion."

Both Madrid and Toledo Are Menaced by Advance Of Victorious Insurgents

Wrongdoer Has Hard Time Doing Right Thing in Sudbury

SUDBURY, Ont., Sept. 23.—George Krysanoski, Constable, Ont., today promised never to "borrow" liquor again as he was placed on suspended sentence for theft of liquor from a lady friend. The lady was awarded $2.50 damages by Magistrate McKessock. Krysanoski offered to buy the lady another bottle of whisky to replace the one that he "borrowed." But that would be contrary to law the court told him. Well then, he'd pay her for the whisky, he "borrowed," Mr. Krysanoski offered. But that would make her guilty of selling, the court took pains to point out. The magistrate's final solution was satisfactory to all parties.

INSURGENT HEAD-QUARTERS, TALAVERA DE LA REINA, Sept. 23.—Insurgent commanders poised their forces tonight for an onslaught on Madrid and Toledo, confident the fall of both cities was imminent.
General Francisco Franco prepared to attempt the taking of Madrid by storm along the highway from Talavera. His well-drilled troops pushed ahead, almost without opposition from hungry, battered Government militiamen. The insurgent vanguard was reported within eighteen miles of the capital's outskirts.
The plan, officers said, was for Franco to strike from the south, while General Emilio Mola's forces crossed the Guadarrama Mountains in the northwest, forming an arrowhead of troops for the final thrust.
One column advanced down the road to Toledo, following the fall of Terrijio, and was reported to have come within a few miles of the hill-protected Government city.
It was trying desperately to reach Toledo in time to save the city, while General Emilio Mola's forces were besieging the battered citadel for more than two months.

Drastic Action Demanded For Japanese Protection

By MORRIS J. HARRIS
(Copyright, 1936, by The Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, Sept. 24 (AP).—The Japanese Naval High Command in Shanghai declared martial law over a huge area of the International Settlement early today, while Japanese marines hunted gunmen who shot three of their men last night, killing one and wounding the others.
Rear-Admiral Eijiro Kondo, commander of the special Japanese naval forces stationed at this Chinese metropolis, declared in a statement:
"We will take armed measures for the protection of Japanese lives and property within and outside the international settlement according to our judgment."
BOUNDLESS INDIGNATION
"Our indignation at this latest outrage against Japanese marines on top of recurring acts of violence has no bounds." Blue-jacketed Japanese marines, rigged out in full war-time kits, patrolled the entire Hongkew area of the settlement, in which the shooting occurred, and stationed outposts along Soo-Chow Creek, which pierces the heart of the settlement.
Regarding the shooting, it was announced one suspect was held at Japanese marine headquarters, after another had escaped through a maze of bullets in the Japanese section of the settlement.
The wounded marines would recover, it was announced, but the death of the third brought to five the number of Japanese fatalities in "incidents" reported during the last month.
MEMORIES REVIVED
With the Japanese setting their marines up as a constituted authority over the international police, memories of the 1932 siege of Shanghai were revived. Shanghai then was bombarded from air and was following similar "incidents."
The Japanese blue-jackets also marched into the Chinese area next to the international settlement, their permanent force of 2,000 swelled by an additional 100 landed from the Japanese flagship, the cruiser Idzumi, lying at anchor in the muddy Whangpoo River.
Said Rear Admiral Kondo: "We were not wholly unprepared for an

ROWE MADE CHIEF JUSTICE

Veteran Ontario Lawyer to Head Ontario Courts—
Other Judges Named

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—Making a clean sweep of the judicial vacancies in Ontario, the Government today appointed a chief justice, two judges to the Supreme Court and six to the county courts.
Hon. Newton Wesley Rowell, K.C., a veteran Ontario lawyer, member of the war-time Unionist Government, was selected for the vacancy created by the resignation early this summer of Sir William Mulock.
Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, and Acting Prime Minister, also announced the appointment of W. E. Gladstone Murray, Canadian-born executive of the British Broadcasting Company, and Augustus Frigon, of the Polytechnic School, Montreal, as general manager and assistant general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.
SUPREME COURT JUDGES
For the two additional Supreme Court judges requested by the Ontario Government, the appointments were Edgar Chevrier, K.C., Member of Parliament for Ottawa East, and Ainslie W. Greene, K.C., also of Ottawa. To fill the vacancy created in the House of Commons by Mr. Chevrier's appointment, writs have been issued for a by-election, to be held October 26.
The county court judicial appointments are:
E. Ainslie Wright, K.C., Renfrew judge of the district court of Muskoka; Frank Denton, J.C., Toronto, junior judge of the York County Court; D. B. Coleman, Welland, judge of the Ontario County Court; J. A. Plouffe, K.C., Sudbury, judge of the district court of Simcoe; G. R. Stanbury, K.C., Peterborough, judge of the Lincoln County Court; and Archibald Cochran, K.C., Cobourg, judge of the Peel County Court.

Debts of Farmers In Saskatchewan Will Be Cancelled

Taxes Owing to Municipal, Provincial and Federal Governments to Be Wiped Out, States Hon. J. G. Gardiner—Interest Charges to Be Revised and Settlers to Be Moved

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Sept. 23.—A widespread cancellation of farmers' debt and interest charges, back taxes and a new agreement governing interest rates on future financing in Saskatchewan will be announced within a few days, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Federal Minister of Agriculture, said in an address to the Board of Trade here today.
These steps, he said, were agreed upon at a recent conference of Federal and Saskatchewan Government officials in Regina. He was not prepared to state the exact date up to which the cancellations will be effective, but intimated it would be quite recent.
He said the announcement would come from the Saskatchewan Government.
The wiping-out of taxes will include all of those owing to municipal, Provincial and Federal Governments. Mr. Gardiner stated.
Mr. Gardiner then outlined a plan under which settlers would be moved from non-productive lands to better land.
"It is quite right to pay back money for which value has been received," he explained, "but a large amount of our debts have increased—for which we got nothing. It is mostly high interest charges which have been responsible for these increasing debts."

TOWN ISSUES LOCAL SCRIP

Orillia, Ont., Now Has Money Patterned on Alberta Certificates

ORILLIA, Ont., Sept. 23.—Orillia town council tonight passed a by-law authorizing the issuance of scrip to the amount of $30,000.
Described as municipal co-operative purchasing vouchers the notes, which will be issued to relief recipients, will be in denominations of one, five, ten, twenty-five and fifty cents and $1.
"The relief recipient," said Mayor J. B. Johnston in describing the scheme, "will take his note, say for $1, to the store and receive $1 worth of goods."
STAMPS USED
"Before the merchant can pass the note on, he must put a different stamp on it in one of the four spaces that will be provided on it. The note will then be passed on until the four spaces are filled. When the final owner of the note brings it to the town office to redeem it, he will receive ninety-nine cents for it."
"All the merchants or everybody who participates in relief business," the mayor said, "will be helping to finance relief by a direct 3 per cent tax."

Entomologist Is Mistaken For Salesman

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 23.—A Government entomologist, sent here on orders from Ottawa to investigate the cricket plague, which is sweeping South London, was turned away from city offices yesterday by an over-zealous clerk, who mistook him for a salesman of bug exterminator. It was revealed here today.
F. H. Hudson, the entomologist who is not a salesman, admitted he had been in London, and would return again.

Man Is Arrested As Store Bandit

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23.—Elton J. Owens was charged with robbery with violence tonight after officers said he had been picked out of a police line-up by three Japanese, who were recent victims in a series of attempted and successful store holdups in the East End district.
Authorities said a 45-revolver, loaded with two shells, had been found on the man.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S Eighteenth Legislature will be formally opened in its fourth session on October 27, Premier Pattullo announced yesterday. Hon. E. W. Hamber will officiate at the opening for the first time since his appointment as Lieutenant-Governor last Spring.
The Speech from the Throne and other customary formalities will occupy the first day, Tuesday, leaving Wednesday clear for a start on the main debate. The Government has not yet announced the mover and seconder of the Address in Reply, but has thirty-four Liberal supporters to choose from, including Mr. Speaker, Hon. H. O. Perry.
TWO NEW MEMBERS
Mark Connolly, member-elect for Okanagan, and Howard Forrester, member-elect for the old seat in Burrard will take their seats on the right of Mr. Speaker. All forty-

Recovering From Bites Of Spider

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Sept. 23.—Mrs. Archie Erickson was in hospital here tonight recovering from severe shock and poisoning caused by the bites of a black widow spider. Attending doctors said she was "out of danger."
The spider, identified here, dropped down Mrs. Erickson's back from the door of her home at Maleb, about twenty-five miles west of here. First it bit her on the back. Then she wriggled and tore at her clothes the insect raced around and bit her on the breast.

REEVE BROWN IS PRESIDENT

B.C. Union of Municipalities To Meet at Nanaimo Next Year

VERNON, Sept. 23.—Reeve J. T. Brown, of Surrey, was elected president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, which concluded its three-day convention here tonight. He succeeds Mayor David Leeming of Victoria.
The delegates accepted an invitation of Mayor J. Baskby, of Nanaimo, to hold next year's convention in that Vancouver Island city. Other officers named today included:
Reeve R. C. MacDonald, Port Couillard, first vice-president; Alderman W. Smith, Vancouver, second vice-president; R. R. F. Sewell, Saanich, secretary-treasurer.

Arrival at Edmonton

EDMONTON, Sept. 23.—Glad to be "landed" again, Flight Lieutenant Sheldon Coleman and Leading Aircraftman Joseph Forrester reached Cocking Lake today and were taken the twenty-mile from the airplane base to an Edmonton hospital where they will undergo a complete physical examination.
Obviously in good spirits, the two Royal Canadian Air Force men found last Wednesday after being missing thirty-one days in the barren lands of the Northwest Territories.
They were "looking well," although they were still on a special diet.
Playing checkers with engine bolts was the relaxed physical recreation while they were stranded for thirty-one days on the shores of Point Lake, 250 miles northwest of Port Reliance, N.W.T., Coleman stated.

DR. P. BRYCE MODERATOR

Toronto Divine Named Head Of United Church by General Council

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—Rev. Peter Bryce, D.D., Toronto, was elected moderator of the United Church on the first ballot at the seventh general council meeting in Chalmers Church here tonight. His nomination was moved by Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., of Toronto, and seconded by Rev. John Mutch of Regina. The names of Rev. A. S. Tuttle, of Edmonton, and Rev. W. L. Armstrong, of Ottawa, were also placed in nomination.
In his speech of acceptance, Dr. Bryce emphasized he looked to God to grant him strength for the duties of the high office which had been given him.
AGAINST WAR
The United Church was counseled by Rev. Richard Roberts, D.D., retiring moderator, to declare it "will lend no countenance whatever to the furtherance of any future wars" and to seek common action by the churches of Protestant Christianity.
In the closing address of his moderatorial term, Dr. Roberts told the general council of the church general resolutions condemning war would not be adequate, that it is time to be specific.
After describing the probable character and worst extent of another war, Dr. Roberts said no church had yet made a definite declaration against furtherance of future wars but the chance for common action would come next year at a fully representative conference in Edinburgh.

Ab Jenkins Shatters Mark of British Racer for Forty-Eight Hours Run

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 23 (AP).—Ab Jenkins, at the wheel of a two-ton automobile that flashed across the salt flats across this salt-surfaced speedway snatched back from Britain tonight the world motor car speed record for forty-eight grueling hours.
Aided by Relief Driver, Baby Stapp, veteran Los Angeles racer pilot who twice escaped unscathed when tires were thrown, Jenkins averaged 148.626 miles an hour, far surpassing the old record of England's Captain George Eyston, of 136.34 miles an hour.

Victoria Chamber of Commerce Seeks Aid For Movie Industry

W. T. Straith Appears Before Tariff Board to Press For Removal or Reduction of Existing Duties On Picture and Sound Equipment

OTTAWA, Sept. 23.—Free entry or reduction of customs duties on motion picture and sound equipment was sought in an application from the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, heard by the tariff board today.
It was opposed by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Southern Electric R.C.A. Victor and Westinghouse companies. The Associated Screen News also appeared in opposition, claiming it and other companies had already paid duty on their equipment and it would be unfair to allow other competing companies to obtain equipment duty-free.
Some dispute arose as to what equipment was made in Canada and what was not. W. R. Straith, representing the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, suggested he would be content with free entry on equipment not made in Canada, but the manufacturers' claimed practically all movie and sound equipment is made in Canada.
Chairman George H. Redgewick said the board would reserve its decision, and asked the opposing parties to get together and try to work out a suggestion which would be acceptable to all.
Mr. Straith said a number of companies had considered settling in Victoria and establishing a motion picture industry there, but found it unprofitable owing to the tariff on equipment. He also suggested pictures might be made in Victoria which would qualify for showing in the United Kingdom under the quota which limits the number of non-British pictures.

Guards Tell How Strike Troubles Were Engineered

Private Detectives Tell United States Senate Committee of Methods Used to Discredit Striking Workmen in Industrial Disputes—Armed With Machine Guns and Tear Gas Bombs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP).—Professional strike-breakers told a United States Senate committee today that, hired as company "guards," they had deliberately stirred up violence and damaged property to discredit striking unions.

One of them, E. J. McDade, of Chicago, told the committee investigating violations of civil liberties, that during the 1921 Cleveland milk strike, red paint was daubed on the house of a company official "to create sentiment against the strikers" and guards fired on their own men to create disorders.

Police records and photographs of twelve employees of the Railway Audit and Inspection Company, a detective agency, were placed in evidence by the committee in its second day of hearings.

THREE KILLED
Testifying his men were armed with machine guns and tear gas from Federal Laboratories, Incorporated, of Pittsburgh, McDade told investigators Railway Audit hired him to take twenty-one "guards" to Lake Charles, La., during a longshoremen's strike there.

Three of them were killed, he added, during a seven-hour gun battle with strikers.

Union automobiles were overturned by "guards" during the Cleveland milk strike, McDade said, "to cause trouble" in hopes more strike-breakers would be hired.

Michael Casey, of New York, testified in regard to a speech delivemergency of this type, in view of the anti-Japanese tendencies exhibited by China recently. However, this latest instance of anti-Japanese terrorism is most regrettable.

DISTRUST CHINESE
A spokesman for the Japanese Embassy asserted: "We can no longer trust Chinese assurances that anti-Japanese movements and activities in China will be suppressed, and we must regretfully take upon ourselves the task of protecting the lives and properties of our nationals in China by whatever means we consider suitable."

The greater part of Japanese residents in Shanghai live in the Hongkew section of the international settlement, where the marines were shot.

RUSSIAN TROOPS
Settlement authorities called out a Russian company of 600, who have been on duty as part of the settlement defence corps. The Russians, under pay of the international settlement authorities, took up posts (with police) ready for instant action to guard against other disorders.

Some papers even hinted Shigeru Kawagoe, Japanese Ambassador to China, might be recalled.

Admiral Oomori, Minister of the Navy, cancelled plans to accompany Emperor Hirohito on a tour of the army and navy manoeuvres after reports three Japanese sailors had been shot, one fatally, in Shanghai.

The Navy Minister took direct charge of Japanese fleet operations in China.

STRONG MEASURES
NANKING, China, Sept. 23 (AP).—Shigeru Kawagoe, Japanese Ambassador to China, told the Associated Press in a bedside interview this morning that Japan's attitude toward China will be "far stronger" as a result of the Shanghai shooting.

"Anti-Japanese sentiment must be eradicated from China," he said, referring to the killing of a Japanese marine and the wounding of two others in Shanghai Wednesday night.

"This latest Shanghai incident reveals that far stronger measures

MADRID AND TOLEDO ARE BOTH MENACED
Government reinforcements were sent from Madrid to try to halt the insurgents' advance on the capital.

East of the key town of Maqueda, controlling the highway junction between Madrid and Toledo on the Talavera route, the Fascists concentrated on the next important town, Navalcarnero, only eighteen miles from Madrid.

FROM NORTH
Mola's troops were pushing through the Lozoya River valley, north of Madrid, in an effort to pass Government defences and pave the way for a simultaneous attack from both sides.

Another column deployed north of the Talavera-Madrid highway to subdue the region west of the capital before turning towards Madrid through the wedge formed by the converging columns.

RALLY FORCES
TOLEDO, Spain, Sept. 23.—Government defenders of ancient Toledo rallied their weary forces tonight for defence outside the city, for attack within.

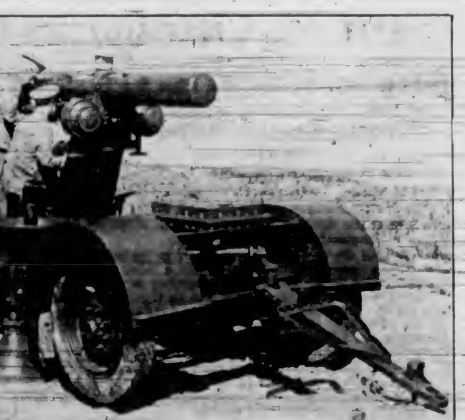

Reinforcements trickled up the road towards Torrijos, eighteen miles northwest, to make a stand against the insurgent captors of that highway hamlet.

Within this ancient capital of Ferdinand and Isabella, the Government command ordered a supreme effort to kill the last remaining insurgents in the wrecked Alcázar, so the attackers could be free to join their comrades beaten back on the Maqueda-Torrijos front.

A consolidated defence with fresh reinforcements alone could save Toledo from falling to the insurgents, the Government leaders feared.

In response to a Government appeal, volunteers scrambled into the blasted ruins of the ancient citadel from all sides, and in bitter sallies drove the defenders deep down into the dungeons where their families were huddling.

PRINTERS HELD BIG CONCLAVE

Much Important Legislation Considered at Colorado Springs Convention

Attended by 300 delegates from Canada and the United States, the eightieth annual convention of the International Typographical Union, held last week at Colorado Springs, was a great success. James F. Hough, vice-president of the Victoria Typographical Union, Local No. 201, stated last night, shortly after his return from the conclave. He was accompanied to Colorado Springs by Miss Hough, who participated as a visitor in the Woman's Auxiliary meetings.

Much legislation, important to the union, was discussed, 170 resolutions in all being presented. Among other things, the convention expressed sympathy with the recently established American Newspaper Guild.

LEADERS SPEAK

Feature addresses were given by Charles P. Howard, president of the union and secretary for the Committee for Industrial Organization; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and A. E. Giesegach, public printer for the United States, in charge of the Printing Bureau at Washington, D.C. The welcoming address was made by Frank Morrison, veteran secretary of the A.F. of L.

Besides the 300 accredited delegates, some 1,700 wives, relations and friends participated in the social programmes at the convention, which were well organized.

The convention will be held in Louisville, Ky., next year.

ENLARGE HOSPITAL

Great work is being carried on at the "Printer's Home" sanitarium at Colorado Springs. Mr. Hough reported. In August a new wing for tuberculosis patients was opened at a cost of $215,000. The sanitarium will now accommodate 500 persons. Since it was founded, in 1892, $7,500,000 has been expended on the plant, buildings, hospitalization and maintenance. The average number of patients is 385. The hospital and its twenty-nine acres of flower beds and 278 acres of farm and dairy lands are under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. James McCoy, superintendent and matron.

LOSING HEART
(Copyright, 1936, by Hays News Agency)
BILBAO, Spain, Sept. 23.—Insurgent forces sweeping westward along the northern Spanish coast will be at the gates of Bilbao within a week unless the Government command is co-ordinated and munitions received, a number of defenders told this correspondent today.

Marked pessimism is prevalent among many Government supporters, whose lines now extend east of Bilbao, with one of the main points at Durango, about twenty miles distant from this seaport.

Lack of co-ordination in the command is resulting in delays in the dispatch of orders. Shortage of munitions is causing the Leticistas to lose their fighting courage.

There is also serious food shortage in Bilbao itself.

OPERATED FAKE "LIE DETECTOR"

School Head Found Using Trap to Obtain Confessions From Students

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 23 (AP).—Disclosure that a faked "lie detector" was used to make boys in a Newark grammar school confess their errors brought tonight the promise of an investigation by the superintendent and a storm of criticism from psychiatrists and parents.

A little black box fashioned from an old radio, with dials and a red bulb that flashed when the pupil lied or when the principal thinks he does, the "lie detector" is in the Newton Street School. An unseen switch controls the light.

TEACHER'S EXPLANATION
Explained Principal Grow Moreland: "If a child is guilty of a misdemeanor, or a lie, or something else, it might react unfavorably if he were not immediately trapped. 'You may be sure I'll find out all about the device,' said John H. Lozan, superintendent of schools.

Samuel Goodman, president of the city-wide Parent-Teacher Council, was emphatic.

"No principal has a right to create a jail atmosphere in a school," he said.

"How many of the residents in the immediate locality of the drain will benefit?" Mayor Stephens said he could not say definitely.

"It is a fact that Anderson Avenue on each side of the road and is there another one on Railway Avenue?" At this point Alderman Brown came to the rescue. Yes, he admitted, but neither were satisfactory.

NO PERMISSION
"Hah," the questioner continued, "the City Council—permission to empty their drain into the Courtenay (Puntledge) River, or that creek that flows into the river?" The mayor said the city had no permission.

"Why was not this drain put down Lake Trail and so drain the swamp instead of causing the flooding of basements?" Alderman Brown said he thought the drain was entirely inadequate and would need to be a two-foot drain.

Heber Cooke said he was apprehensive lest the discharge of drainage—in the river—at this point contaminate bathing pools and picnic grounds. In addition, the creek provided a wonderful spawning bed for fish. He thought the city should be very careful and should carefully consider the matter of protection. He would not like to see an epidemic of skin disease break out among children who frequent the

COURTENAY HAS DRAIN PROBLEM

Ratepayers Attend Council Meeting to Urge Care in New Proposal

COURTENAY, Sept. 22.—A deputation of ratepayers attended Monday night's City Council meeting and requested an explanation of the council's action regarding the drain at present under construction on Anderson Avenue. The delegates were George W. Edwards, president of the Ratepayers' Association; Heber Cooke, chairman of the fish and game committee of the Courtenay-Comox Board of Trade, and W. A. Orr.

Among the questions asked were: "Is the Anderson Avenue drain part of the general drainage plan as laid out by Engineer O.W. Smith?"

Say Administration Has Failed in Its Pledges to People

Conservatives Preparing for Early Election in British Columbia on Party Lines—R. A. Wootton, Provincial President, Opens the Attack

In a slashing attack on the Pattullo Administration, which he asserted had abrogated its promises and feigned at producing a balanced budget in the face of large yearly capital additions to the Province's debt, Robert A. Wootton, Provincial president of the British Columbia Conservative Association, rallied city Conservatives last evening in a fighting address in Ward One. He said in part:

"Let me say now that, so far as the Conservative party is concerned, there is no thought of upon with the Pattullo Administration. That administration was elected in 1933 on a definite set of promises. You remember them, as well as I. They included—work and wages, a highway commission, utilities commission—a balanced budget, municipal aid, and a great many more things that are no nearer fulfillment today."

ADDED TO HOUSE

Instead, the administration has added one seat to an Assembly already over-large; has appointed innumerable commissions; has sent delegation after delegation of Cabinet ministers to Ottawa; has flown all over British Columbia; and offered to supplant the rights of Parliament in the special Powers Act and its successor, the MIRA SPA, a crowning example of hysteria.

"The trips to Ottawa, we are told, resulted in gifts of $250,000 to the Province, but that came initially from Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett and as the result of representations made by their predecessors in office. It is true there has been started a toll bridge over the Fraser River at New Westminster, which has a Cabinet minister, but I submit the bridge was not necessary and that the toll, following the course of all such undertakings, will eventually be lifted."

GOING BEHIND

"Now we are told that the Government has balanced its budget. It is a comical sort of balance. With the largest revenues in history on its books, the Province is going behind by millions of dollars annually. Taking the Government's own figures, a net debt of $111,500,000 in 1931 became $137,000,000 in 1934, and the net increase in the debt between 1934 and 1935 was $7,900,000. That is the balance we hear so much about."

"Liberal speakers in Victoria and Saanich have been talking about a 'surplus' in departmental operations. We hear of the surplus from larger increased sale of liquor from larger lines in the courts, and from probate duties. Those are peculiar sources to boast about. We do not hear of any relief from taxation, nor do we hear of any fresh capital venturing within the confines of the province."

"The truth is, in spite of improvement in business and commerce, the Province is going behind annually to the tune of millions of dollars. It is time the people awakened to that fact," Mr. Wootton declared.

EARLY ELECTION

Touching on Conservative organization, the speaker said an election was anticipated within a relatively short period, and that at the proper time the Conservative party would produce its platform on provincial affairs. The issue, he said, would be between the two old-line parties, with the present administration already discredited in the eyes of the public, and the C.C.F. as a disappearing factor.

Ward One returned its presiding officers by unanimous votes, under Alex Monteith, president. Captain William Kirby was chosen vice-president, Miss P. Carrison, secretary, Mrs. Walker, treasurer, and Mrs. J. Lismore, Mrs. H. B. Chamberlain, J. Key and Captain W. Kirby as delegates to the central association.

Want to Begin First Aid Work

A meeting of the St. John Ambulance Association, of Victoria Centre, will be held in room 309, Union Bank Building, New Street, Thursday, October 1, at 8 p.m. All interested in the work of the association are cordially invited to attend.

Entries in first aid and home-nursing are to be forwarded to A. J. Dallain, 625 Niagara Street, without delay, as it is hoped to start classes immediately.

Red Cross Campaign Headquarters

At 637 Fort Street, yesterday, the various divisional leaders and workers in the campaign for $15,000, which is being started by the Victoria branch of the Canadian Red Cross today, were rallying to get details, printed folders, and other equipment, with which to start out on the great drive. The headquarters' window has attracted much admiring comment already, with its life-size Red Cross nurse, in her spotless white uniform, thrown into strong relief against a background of violet plush curtains. In the foreground can be seen the display cards calling attention to some of the useful activities of the organization in British Columbia as well as locally.

Unusual Photographic Effects to Be Seen in Production of "Merry Widow"

"Basket weave dances" and musical retrospects are among the amazing devices, appealing with new effects to eye and ear, in Ernest Lubitsch's spectacular production of "The Merry Widow," which comes today to the Atlas Theatre.

The "basket weave" is a new dance-maniuvre executed by the great Embassy sequence of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer spectacles. Dances in differently colored costumes weave in and out in an "over and under" movement exactly as a basket weave is made in making a basket. The effect is amazing.

The "musical retrospects" are heard in the sequence where Maurice Chevalier is on trial and from the past go through his mind. Instead of showing this by pictured scenes "dissolving" into each other, the music that accompanied the different events is heard, blending or "dissolving" from one air to another just as the pictorial "retrospect" is photographed.

CHINESE TROUPE ON EMPIRE STAGE

Wing Wing Organization Open Engagement Here—Appearing Again On Friday

Colorfully costumed, a troupe of Chinese acrobats, jugglers, and dancers opened an engagement yesterday at the Empire Theatre. Matinee and evening performances will be presented tomorrow and Saturday. There will be no production from one air to another, but the group known as the Wing Wing Chinese Troupe. Each act was introduced by a Chinese mistress of ceremonies in English.

Featuring the performance were the acrobats and magical stunts and the handling of the old-time fun-maker, diabolo, by two of the leaders in the group.

Some of the tumbling displayed was of the most difficult type and Diabolo handling, a sport of earlier days, was demonstrated by another veteran of the troupe, who was assisted in some of his acts by a nimble-fingered Chinese woman.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Stage

Empire—Madame Winifred Lugrin Fahey, soprano.

On the Screen

Atlas—Jeanette MacDonald in "The Merry Widow."

Capitol—"His Brother's Wife," starring Barbara Stanwyck.

Columbia—Warner Oland in "Charlie Chan at the Circus."

Domination—"Yours for the Asking," starring George Raft.

Plaza—Madeleine Carroll in "The Case Against Mrs. Ames."

Oak Bay—Shirley Temple in "Curly Top."

There was not one slip-up during the performances presented yesterday. The Chinese tumblers turned somersaults, backflips and all the other types of tumbling from stunts, and sometimes without even touching the ground for leverage.

The magical act, which opened the show, featured some intricate manipulations by a veteran showman, Canaris, were apparently burned, only to return to their cages; dollar bills were "burned" and are found tumbling on the wall in the heart of the theatre, and "flashes and ducks" appeared from a thin roll of silk.

Diabolo handling, a sport of earlier days, was demonstrated by another veteran of the troupe, who was assisted in some of his acts by a nimble-fingered Chinese woman.

CAPITOL Barbara Stanwyck has Theatre been elected "Number One Actress and Sweet Person" by every member of the company that worked with her and Robert Taylor in "His Brother's Wife," which is now at the Capitol.

When she appeared for her final scene the company assembled, including everybody from the prop man to Taylor and after a speech by Director W. S. Van Dyke, she was presented with an engraved parchment scroll.

DOMINION The screen's happy theatre combination of man-of-steel and romantic lover, George Raft, puts a new teacher in his cap by his performance in the Paramount comedy-romance, "Yours for the Asking," which opened yesterday at the Dominion Theatre. Raft is co-starred with Dolores Costello, Barrymore, Jeville, star of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," in the production.

The picture is a Walter Wanger production, presents the beautiful English stage and screen star, Madeleine Carroll in a fast-moving action-adventure, charged with murder and later threatened with loss of her only child.

Madame Fahey Sings Tonight

Madame Winifred Lugrin Fahey, distinguished Canadian soprano, will be heard in rental tonight at the Empire Theatre. This will be her first appearance in Victoria in four years.

Madame Fahey will be accompanied by Mrs. Clifford Warr, pianist.

POLITICAL PATRONAGE

The kind of government fashioned for the best uses of democracy will have been established when political patronage ceases to be practised, and when only the best men and women are selected for administrative and other tasks. Unfortunately that is not the kind of government that now functions at Ottawa. There have been scores of illustrations of the exercise of political patronage since it came into power. Seemingly no one is suitable for any new task which the Government desires unless he or she is a member of the Liberal Party.

There is a new organ of propaganda designed to forward the Liberal cause. The National Liberal-Reformer was recently launched with the blessing of the Liberal leaders throughout the country. It is a party organ and presumably expresses Liberal policies and Liberal viewpoints. The following excerpt from a leading editorial may therefore be taken as inspired. We quote: "We're going to fight to the end that the workers—in the party—get more recognition and co-operation, and that those who have contributed to the party get more consideration in the matter of patronage. The Tory element in the Dominion Civil Service have had their innings—like those in the provincial arenas. It is time the supporters of the Liberal Governments should be given that reasonable consideration to which they are entitled. Unity there must be—Liberalism and Toryism just won't mix—therefore Toryism in the Civil Service must be removed; the service must be in sympathy with Liberalism or both fail in their duty to the public."

This is straight advocacy of the spoils system. It is a plea for patronage, open and unabashed. What the National Liberal-Reformer believes in, if it put into practice by all Governments, would make the Civil Service, would make for insecurity in the tenure of any government office, and the administration of the country would suffer in proportion. It is extraordinary that in these so-called enlightened times the conception should prevail that a Civil Service should be purely a partisan organization. The worst feature of all is that The National Liberal-Reformer and the tenets it espouses have the blessing of Liberal leaders throughout the country. It is a sad commentary on Liberalism's viewpoint of how national affairs should be nationally conducted.

THE RED CROSS APPEAL

There is no organization in the world which occupies the same place as the Red Cross Society. It has established itself as a mission of mercy equally available whether the circumstances are those of peace or war, bringing the same humanitarian motives to bear on its every activity, accomplished a task that has stirred the imagination and aroused the gratitude of countless thousands. Its energies are only limited by the amount of money it has at its command, and that amount is contingent on the measure of public appreciation of what it is doing. Its services have compassion as their instinctive motive, and the record of what it has done since its foundation by Henri Dunant is one that has left its imprint on the history of modern civilization.

The Red Cross is now appealing for funds to carry on its work in this Province. The response should be immediate and generous in this locality, where the wonderful work that has been accomplished is so well known, and where so many stories have filtered through of the errands of mercy among the lonely settlers in isolated places in British Columbia. Those who are philanthropically inclined cannot fail to appreciate such an organization, and can have nothing but praise for its never-failing energies directed towards the alleviation of human suffering. When it is remembered that the Red Cross has done in making the lot of life for so many happier and easier by the mitigation of the pains of endurance that organization should have its reward in an increased ability for service. Those who regard its activities in this light will give cheerfully to such a cause, and the objective set in the present campaign should be reached without any difficulty.

IN PRAISE OF DOCTORS

A recent book is entitled "British Masters of Medicine," and the story it tells, with brevity and eloquence, is an incentive to follow the injunction to praise famous men. The masters include Harvey, who demonstrated the circulation of blood; Jenner, who invented vaccination; J. Y. Simpson and Lister, the latter with what W. E. Henley called:

His faultless patience, his unyielding will, his beautiful gentleness and splendid skill.

In making mention of this publication a writer in The London Morning Post points out that since Harvey's day medical science has increased the expectation of life from thirty to sixty years. It has largely eradicated such plagues as leprosy, scurvy, "sweating sickness," typhus, cholera, and virulent smallpox. It is true such devastating diseases remain as tuberculosis, cancer, bronchial complaints and diseases of the nervous system which are the "bug killers" of today, and the greater expectation of life has provided millions of new victims for rheumatism; but in the balance is set the work of medical science which has saved millions from death from diseases that formerly were regarded as incurable.

The work of Lister alone has saved sufferers in surgical wards from the "grey storm of agonizing pain" and reduced the operative death rate by 40 per cent to 2 or 3 per cent at most. The writer in The Morning Post, in paying tribute to the masters of medicine, says that more than 30 per cent of the devastation from disease yet un conquered "is definitely traceable to easily-remedied conditions." He quotes the methods of the Army Medical Service to show what has been done in that respect. One feature is that medical officers in-charge of troops and their families are also attached to hospitals and take part in the medical and surgical practice there. Laboratories, X-ray departments, etc., are open to them and used. Each medical officer in the Army is given every opportunity "of keeping abreast of every new development of medical science." "What," asks the writer, "would general practitioners not give for the same opportunities—and if they had them, how the public would benefit?" The writer then goes on to say:

"The officer in charge of the hospital is also the chief health officer of troops and their families. He inspects and reports on their housing, dieting, clothing, water supply and physical training, their schools and their welfare centres. At once he is the member of an hospital staff, a family doctor and a public health authority. There is no overlapping, on loss of time. All medical officers collaborate for the common cause, the preservation of health. Here, then, is a small-working model of the nation's urgent need—the close and constant collaboration between health authorities, medical practitioners, and research workers. The provision of reliable local statistics would be a useful part of the work of health centres. . . . Any such system, to be fully effective, would consider the health of the hitherto neglected middle classes. At present the very poor are the best treated, thanks to our splendid hospitals. What is urgently needed throughout the country is nursing-home accommodation for persons of moderate means, for whom hospitals are not available or uncongenial, and existing nursing homes either too expensive or not sufficiently up to date. It is out of this section of the community that nearly all the famous discoverers have been, and are being recruited, to say nothing of the rank and file of the medical profession."

The National Confederation of Merchant Tailors has been holding its annual conference in London. The newly-elected president, Mr. L. E. Dart, of Lincoln, is outspoken on the subject of the unsuitability of men's clothing and the difficulty in changing fashions. He blames both the male sex, and the tailors as well, for he says that the latter are unresponsive to new ideas and there is an almost painful similarity in styles for men's clothes and somberness in general in their color. He expresses the belief that the stupidly conservative attitude on the part of men towards the clothes they wear deserves condemnation and ridicule, especially since women have long since emancipated themselves. His urges that tailors should make a supreme effort to educate men into wearing clothes which could be comfortable without losing anything in elegance or distinction.

WEDDED

Peace . . . the moon's silver laid on lilted water;
Peace . . . the long strand beside a fairy sea;
Peace . . . the tranced, fire-girt sleep of Odin's daughter;
Peace . . . the soul standing white, from flesh set free;
Peace . . . the young athlete at the struggle's ending
On soft award fallen prone, a victor crowned;
Peace . . . a fair dove through dim, gold air descending
To drooped roses upon holy ground—
And what are these but symbols of the sweetness
Blessing the quiet hearts of you and I.
At rest within the circle of completeness—
Unbroken as the circle of the sky?

ONE VIRTUE

Even opponents of the Alberta Government give it credit for at least one worth-while accomplishment. It has made it impossible for Albertans to do any foolish borrowing.—Calgary Herald.

Mr. Aberhart, of course, has one great and supreme advantage over all our other statesmen. When a politician can get up and say, "This saith the Lord," what can the poor rest of us answer?—Ottawa Journal.

We have had too many treaties with loopholes and business-looking reservations and provisions which were capable of nullifying their high purpose.
—Josephus Daniels.

Note and Comment

By Anon.

For hundreds of millions of years this old earth has been whirling through space, its ice caps enlarging or diminishing, its oceans gaining on continents or receding, its very surface changing from mountain to plain and back again. Man, but a recent creation on this lesser speck in a universe of great stars and time-age stars, debouches from some mental forest every now and then, and believes for a moment he has found something new. Then history rises to confute his claim.

Civilizations rise and fall. The dust of ages settles down over their remains, and successive layers of debris pile up on top. Then come the archaeologists, digging lens, or hundreds or thousands of feet down in the earth's crust to revive some fleeting moment from the past. Many such expeditions are in the field just now, financed by different nations around the globe.

The Egypt Exploration Society, of London, England, is preparing to explore the ancient sites of Soleb and Besebi, between the second and third cataracts on the Nile, this winter. Both sites are said to date from 1400 B.C. and to have been built in the rainy days of the eighteenth dynasty.

In Iraq, the ancient Kingdom of Babylonia, the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago is at work in the excavation of a temple believed to be 4000 years old, discovered northeast of Bagdad. On the walls of the Babylonian temple are depicted several scenes, one including a relief showing a Babylonian—dog slaying a one-eyed demon with a particularly large and vicious-looking knife.

So frightful is not new, even to man. One suspects that archaeologists time and again come across a recurring pattern in human achievement, wherein all the chief virtues and vices of the human animal are recapitulated.

Perhaps 4000 years from now other archaeologists will be bending over the partly-excavated ruins of a motion-picture theatre, puzzled at its entire significance. From frescoes on the wall, they may come to the conclusion that we were a simple-minded lot, herding knee to knee, to watch the unfolding of tales that would have been considered puerile in Babylonian days. Inevitably they will say that our women painted their faces, and that our men were like Greek gods with curly hair. But one suspects the peanuts on the floor will fool them!

The Atlantic seaboard of this continent pulled in its horns like a snail, the other day, to let a hundred-knot gale go by without too much challenge. Boats were wrecked, buildings torn, people hurt, and much miscellaneous damage done all round. Right through the outskirts of the storm zone passed the dirigible Hindenburg, leisurely cruising into port, picking a soft spot in the storm, and riding down the favorable side of the fury with fair winds behind her back. A routine aerial crossing for the motorized free-balloon!

On the Pacific Coast, arrangements were announced for the opening of commercial flying services to the Orient by the Pan-American Airways, with the first passengers and freight to be accepted in California on October 21. San Francisco is the Western terminus, with Honolulu and Guam the intermediate stations, before reaching Manila, on the other side of the Pacific Ocean. Return service will start on October 29.

Britain, meanwhile, is making arrangements to link Empire posts across the Pacific in the same fashion. Writing to a convention of the British Institute of Journalists, in session at Edinburgh, recently, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University, touched on the freedom of the press. He said, in part, "The freedom of the press is vital to human progress, since only through a free press can public opinion receive and reflect upon knowledge of those human happenings upon which it must base its reasoned judgments and its course of future expression and action."

Perhaps never before in recent history has the press of the world been so affected by attempts to interfere with its original duties. It is by no means a coincidence that misunderstandings have resulted, and set nations against nations around the globe. The quickest way to remove misunderstandings is to let the facts speak for themselves. Let the facts and the press get them from all sides, to state the facts without bias, and without taking sides.

COURT ORDERS

EXTRADITION

William Evans Will Go to United States to Face Child Theft Charge

William Evans, Canadian-born resident of Los Angeles, was ordered by Judge J. C. McIntosh to be extradited to the United States, to face a charge of theft of his child. The order, made by the judge in the county court yesterday, was that the prisoner should be detained in custody in the province for fifteen days before being handed over to the authorities in California, during which time he has the right of appeal, by way of habeas corpus, against the order made.

CHILD RETURNED

Mrs. Evans, former wife of the prisoner, has been given the custody of her eight-year-old daughter, Deirdre, entrusted to her by the courts of California after divorce proceedings in Los Angeles.

In the proceedings yesterday, C. L. Harrison cited the law on the custody of children, and quoted authorities as to the course to be followed. While he thought that it was not absolutely necessary to submit evidence in the matter, yet he had called Ewing D. Colvin, of Seattle, an attorney familiar with the proceedings in the United States, to make doubly sure in the matter.

Case of Two in One

We thought it was only in funny papers that more than one person enjoyed a single ice cream soda. In a dairy one afternoon this week, a dairyman, however, noticed a man standing with a French opera where an army sergeant's mouth to enjoy the smoke he was inhaling from a pipe. A few blocks away, eighteen men were observed watching a razor demonstration. A lone woman eagerly gazed at the demonstrator. . . . Bright remark made by an army officer in an ex-service men's club: "It's a funny thing. Sometimes I remember things I have forgotten."

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily Colonist of September 24, 1886.

The Victoria Colonist of September 24, 1886, contains a report of a fire which broke out in the city of Victoria, B.C., at 11:30 p.m. The fire was caused by a gas leak in a kitchen, and it spread rapidly, burning for several hours before it was extinguished. The damage was considerable, and several families were displaced. The report is of interest to readers of the Colonist today, as it shows the progress of fire-fighting in Victoria over the past fifty years.

In 4 Years... 1500 Cars Sold at Lower Prices

That Jameson's lower-price policy for used-cars is the right selling method is proven by the fact that approximately 1,500 cars have been sold on this basis during the past four years. When cars come in they are given a thorough inspection and necessary repairs carried out, and after that they do not remain long on the showroom floor. Many buyers come and tell us their requirements . . . we telephone the buyer as soon as a suitable car is ready. That is why cars at Jameson's sell quickly, why you should act promptly when you read a Jameson advertisement offering a car that suits your needs.

Lumber Exports of Province Gain One Third This Season

United Kingdom, Australia and Other Empire Destinations Bulk Largely in Total Orders Received—Revival on Eastern Canadian Seaboard

BRITISH Columbia export lumber business for eight months this year showed a clear gain of one-third over the corresponding shipments between January and August, inclusive, last year. Provincial forestry officials disclosed yesterday. Total exports in the water-borne trade for the period were 756,350,371 board feet, compared with 554,030,939 board feet last year.

British Empire destinations took the greater proportion of the product, as may be seen from the following:—Principal aggregations: United Kingdom, 280,500,000; Australia, 88,760,000; China, 56,250,000; Japan, 42,800,000; Atlantic seaboard, 28,450,000; Eastern Canada, by water, 13,000,000 board feet. Smaller lots went to the British West Indies, South Africa and other Empire destinations.

EXPORTS HOLDING
August held steady in the export trade with a total of 95,816,000 board feet moved in ship loads. This compared with 84,277,000 board feet in a like period of last year. The United Kingdom took nearly 61,000,000 feet of British Columbia lumber in August, compared with 43,900,000 in the corresponding month of 1935.

Steady and increasing sales to the United Kingdom, a distinct revival of the Japanese market, and fresh signs of lumber buying on the Canadian side of the Atlantic seaboard are the outstanding gains of the eight-month period.

The figures are exclusive of British Columbia lumber movements by rail in Canada, and exclusive also of domestic sales.

UNIVERSITY TO GET DONATION

Premier Pattullo Announces Additional Grant of $5,000 Allocated

Declaring the grant was not to be considered as a precedent, Premier Pattullo announced yesterday the Government would contribute $5,000 to the University of British Columbia immediately, to enable forestry applied science students to continue their tuition at college.

The announcement followed a conference between the Premier and President L. S. Klink of the university. Faculty officials explained that forty students were denied continuance in applied science this term due to lack of facilities.

The Government grant, which in addition to a yearly provincial grant of $300,000, will remedy the defect and enable the students to complete their courses. It was said.

of Groningen, director of the Noord-Willand Canal at the Empress Hotel last night.

With Mrs. Geith, the visitor is thoroughly enjoying his holiday in Canada. He is greatly impressed by the vastness of Canada, the railway services and the large hotels.

When asked whether the quaint native costumes of Holland were worn in his city, the visitor laughed.

In only the country districts are they to be found today, especially in the Zeeland country, he explained. From here Mr. and Mrs. Geith will go to San Francisco.

Obituary

DAVY—The death occurred September 23, 1936, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, of Mrs. Mary Ann Davy, widow of John Davy, of 825 Walker Street, in her seventy-seventh year.

She was born in Devonshire, England, and had been a resident of Victoria for the past forty-five years. She is survived by one son, Ernest H. Davy, in Victoria, two daughters, Mrs. R. Carstairs, Victoria, and Mrs. McChie, in Portland Ore. The funeral will be held from the home of Mrs. Davy, 825 Walker Street, at 2 p.m., and interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

MORRISON—Many friends attended the last rites for Malcolm Morrison yesterday afternoon, Rev. Canon A. E. de L. Nunn officiating. The hymn, "Abide With Me," was sung, and Dr. J. E. Watson presided at the organ. The casket and hearse were banked with beautiful floral tributes. The following pallbearers: Major P. M. McNaughton, William Hall, D. C. Colclough, George Sheard, Frank Mann and W. G. Plowright. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Victoria Leading Way In Provincial Drive For Red Cross Funds

Rally of Campaign Committee and Workers, Held At Chamber of Commerce Auditorium Last Night, Shows Enthusiastic Spirit

VICTORIA leads the way in the Provincial drive for funds. I am greatly encouraged by the magnificent enthusiastic spirit I have discovered among the workers over here on the eve of your campaign. You are setting the rest of British Columbia a fine example," said Colonel John S. Tait, of Vancouver, president of the Provincial branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society last evening.

MAY NOT SEEK RE-ELECTION

Councillor T. Harry Hodgson Tells Esquimalt Ratepayers He Will Retire

Councillor T. Harry Hodgson, representative of the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association on Esquimalt Council, announced last night he would not seek re-election at the municipal elections next January. He was speaking at a meeting of the ratepayers' group.

Councillor Hodgson said he was "fed up with all this." He urged the association to start an immediate organization for the January polls. Younger men, he claimed, should be sponsored for re-election, council school board and police commission posts.

The speaker attacked the bond policies of the present council. Councillor Fred G. Eaton, another representative of the association, sketched the activities of the council since the first of the year.

"We will just get by this year if nothing unusual happens," he said. "Whoever tells you we have a big surplus on hand at the annual meeting at the end of the year will be just attempting to mislead you," Councillor Eaton added.

He said that the tax levy of over $67,000 would be paid before the end of the year and that a portion of the $7,000 deficit, for which the council levied, would be cancelled. All of the municipal expenditures were within the estimates for the year, Councillor Eaton said.

In reviewing the recent tax sale, Councillor Eaton reported that just prior to the sale many parcels of property, two of them quite large, had been redeemed. The executive of the association was urged to secure data on a municipal burial park.

The owner of a big department store liked to walk through the place, and not infrequently gave a present to some little child that took his fancy. One afternoon he presented a handsome doll to a little girl with whom he had struck up a conversation and waited, beaming, to see what she would say.

The child's mother waited, too. "What are you going to say to the gentleman?" she asked.

The little dear looked at the man firmly. "Oh, dear!" she said.

At the end of his second week of holidays, Jones found himself rather short of ready money.

Fortunately he walked into a local pawnshop carrying a portable radio set, and asked for a loan of ten dollars.

"The pawnbroker shook his head. 'This is disgraceful,' protested Jones. 'Why this is a really up-to-date set. I can get Europe and Australia and South Africa on it.'"

"That may be," replied the pawnbroker quietly. "But you can't get ten dollars on it."

Her Mother—"Now that you're married, you should help Ferdinand to save something."

Mrs. Humphreys—"I do. I've already helped him to save something on his income tax."

City and District

Public Library—Victoria Public Library will be closed next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday while Luney Brothers' workmen erect a mezzanine floor.

Issue Fish Licence—A pickard reduction plant licence was issued by the Province yesterday to the British Columbia Packers, Limited, for operations at Nanaimo.

Cows in City—The city health department will not take legal proceedings against those keeping cows within the city limits, contrary to by-law, until early next month.

Civil Servants—Fred Knowles, Ottawa, national secretary for Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada, will address members in the Bastion Street headquarters this evening.

Election Commissioners—Henry C. Jeffery was made a Provincial elections commissioner for Comox yesterday, by Provincial order-in-council. Other commissioners were added in Omika riding.

Trespasser Fined—Pleading guilty to a charge of trespassing on the city watershed on September 1, a Chemainus resident was fined $15 and $250 costs in Provincial Police Court, yesterday.

Awaiting Escort—Wanted at Pincher Creek, Alta., for fraudulently obtaining food and lodgings, J. Darcy Palmer was arrested by RCMP and Victoria police here. He is held at the city jail awaiting escort to Alberta.

Visitors Invest Here—Answers to questionnaires sent out by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau show that visitors to the city last year made investments here totaling $40,150, 50 to 60 per cent higher than in previous years.

Giving Prizes—Children of the Royal Oak district, who were successful in the garden competition, sponsored by the Royal Oak Women's Institute, will receive their prizes at the tea to take place in the hall this afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock.

Week's Delay—The charge of driving an automobile to the common danger laid the day before against Joyce W. Collins was mandated for a week at yesterday's sitting of the city police court, pending the recovery of a witness who was hurt in an accident.

Tax Penalties—Commencing October 1, a penalty of 1 per cent will be applied on outstanding taxes, George A. Ouellet, city assessor and treasurer, announced yesterday. The penalty will be increased by 1 per cent on November 3, 1 per cent on November 17, and 3 per cent on December 3, making the charge at that date 6 per cent.

To Hold Auction—On Friday at 2:15 p.m. the Royal Oak Boys' Band will be given an auction by Harold C. George, with a view to having records made for release outside. There are still more instruments on hand, and it is wished to join especially those who already play bass. The bandroom is open for any boy who wishes to learn to play.

Fraud Charged—In the city police court yesterday morning, Evan P. Robinson was charged with having obtained the sum of $7 from Marjorie C. Bokenham by false pretences with intent to defraud. On the request of C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, after the accused pleaded guilty, a delay was granted by Magistrate Hall.

Describes Ceremony—Miss Edith Franks, who has charge of the Nurses' Home in Victoria, gave an interesting talk to St. Joseph's Hospital student nurses last evening at the Nurses' Home, when she told them about the unveiling ceremony at Vimy Ridge last July. Miss Franks was one of two British Columbia overseas nurses who accompanied the pilgrimage to Vimy.

Plan "Vimy Night"—Plans and arrangements for a "Vimy Night" to be held shortly, were discussed by the executive of the Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, when it was announced yesterday. Plans of the Vimy pilgrimage and addresses by ex-soldiers who attended, have been arranged. When Should a Child Begin Piano Lessons?

The consensus of opinion among the most able teachers of the piano is that a child should begin piano lessons about the time when schooling begins—between five and seven. It is the acquisitive age when new thoughts are most easily acquired.

If you have a child five to seven, why not come and choose your piano now? Prices were never lower or terms so reasonable.

For example, these instruments are just like new, yet they are priced at less than half their original cost.

political. The election of the Ethiopians would mean lowered prestige and a moral blow for the League. There might be powerful reasons why the Ethiopians should be expelled, but they were not apparent. Foreign Secretary Eden, it is understood, suggested in view of the circumstances it might be better to drop the proposed reference to the Hague. The committee after further discussion took this view and recommended the assembly should admit the Ethiopian delegation to take part in the proceedings of the present assembly.

In the committee this afternoon, Maxim Litvinoff, Russian Foreign Minister, argued the issue really was

Miss Gladys Hindmarch Bride of Mr. T. C. Mills

Wedding in Nanaimo Last Evening Attended by Large Number of Friends—Popular Bride
Is Prominent in Work of I.O.D.E.

NANAIMO, Sept. 23.—One of the loveliest brides to make her nuptial vows in St. Paul's Church, was a principal in a wedding of side interest solemnized this evening when Rev. Canon H. V. Hitchcock united in matrimony, Gladys, only daughter of Mr. Robert R. Hindmarch, prominently known in Nanaimo and other parts of the Island, and Mr. Thomas C. Mills, member of a well-known pioneer family, and youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mills of Nanaimo.

The church was crowded to overflowing many being unable to gain admission.

LOVELY BRIDE

As the church organist struck the notes of the introductory passages of the "Lohengrin" "Bridal Chorus," the bride proceeded up the aisle on the arm of her father, in a lovely gown of shimmering white satin exclusively designed for her, along modern princess lines.

Form-fitting, the upper portion of the bodice was modeled with a pointed yoke and marked with soft folds of satin extending from the centre to below the waistline in front, and continuing to a raised waistline at the back. Rows of shirring arranged a pouching fullness to the sleeves which were attached to a dropped yoke. They were puffed to the elbow with tight-fitting cuffs forming points over the hands, and satin buttons were used for trimming to mark the back of the waistline and the seam of the sleeve cuffs to the elbow.

Simplicity accentuated throughout, the designing was portrayed in the narrow turn-back collar, fastened in front with French orange blossom, which were also used to decorate the toes of her slippers.

She also wore a bridal veil of soft silk Brussels tulle, falling in billowy clouds to the end of her four-yard satin court train at the back and draped over her face to the waistline of her gown in front. A hand-embroidered scroll design on the veil effected a pattern against the lustrous satin of her gown. A military note was suggested in a Glenary cap of pearls, which she wore beneath her bridal veil, modelled from embroidered seed pearls gathered into lover's knots at one side of her head. She carried a bouquet of Killarney roses fully shrouded, which added a delightful addition to a beautiful ensemble.

TWO ATTENDANTS

She had two attendants, her bridesmaid, Miss Helena Patterson, wearing a lovely gown of orchid union over satin to match. Cut in tulle effect, the blouse dipped at the back over a fitted skirt which rippled to a sweeping train. Trimmed on both shoulders of knotted velvet in a vivid shade, enhanced the general effect.

She also wore a small halo hat with a shirred crown of purple tulle, and the turn-back brim was covered with violets to match. She carried lemon-yellow and mauve gladioli in shawl effect.

Little Joyce Maffeo was flower girl, dressed in an imported Kate Greenaway frock of lettuce green tulle. A poke bonnet, with a velvet crown in lattice-work, and a full long skirt with a corded hemline were features. She wore matching green slippers and carried a Victorian nosegay of flowers and lace. Mr. Ronald D. Ingham was best man.

During the signing of the register, Mr. J. W. Carmichael, of Chilliwack, sang "O Perfect Love." The ushers were Mr. Robert Hindmarch, Jr., Mr. Ralph Mills, Mr. H. McCarthy and Mr. H. B. Forward.

LARGE RECEPTION

Following the ceremony one hundred guests repaired to the bride's home, 464 Union Avenue, where a reception was held.

The rooms were artistically decorated with choice Fall flowers. The bride and groom stood beside a plaque of flowers in front of a fireplace.

Mrs. P. E. Peterson, of Vancouver, was hostess, wearing a beaming Grecian gown of royal purple. The bride featured Roman openwork, studded with brilliant, and the long sleeves were slashed to the elbow. Flowing ties fell from both shoulders to the waistline at the back. She also wore a silver grey hat and silver grey shoes, and a corsage bouquet of white roses.

Refreshments were served from a table with lovely appointments, with a bride's cake of original design centring the table on a Venetian lace cloth. Five tiers of the cake were arranged to form a cross, and were topped with a smaller layer ornamented with silver bells and orange blossoms. Miniature figures were posed on the lower layers, connected with garlands of orange blossoms, and lighted white tapers in floral holders were placed at every point of the lower layers.

Pouring tea and coffee were Mrs. C. Barker, Mrs. Joseph Cartwright, Mrs. Peter Maffeo, Miss H. B. Forward, Mrs. Howard McCarthy, Mrs. R. C. Ingham, Mrs. Miss Rita McDonald, Miss J. Seggie, Miss D. Brown, Mrs. R. Griffiths, Miss Tami Aho, Miss Dorothy Peterson (Vancouver) and Mr. and Mrs. Mills received many

TO LIVE IN NANAIMO

They left amidst a shower of good wishes for Victoria, en route to Seattle and Sound cities, and will upon their return, live on Union Avenue, here.

The bride traveled in a becoming dress of pure brown with trimmings of mustard crepe and metal buttons, a brown sailor hat with a French twist bow in front, and a top coat of brown silk and wool with a silk astrakhan finish, and a collar of two-toned fox fur.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. W. Owen, Cumberland; Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Peterson, Miss

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 23.—Well-known families of British Columbia and Nova Scotia were united today with the marriage at King's College chapel of Miss Helen-Priscilla Forman, daughter of Mr. James Forman and the late Mrs. Forman, of Victoria, B.C. and Captain Gordon MacDonald, of the Royal Canadian Artillery, Captain MacDonald is from Windsor, N.S.

The bride, in a tailored suit of light blue trimmed with dark fur, dark brown accessories and with a corsage bouquet of pink roses, was given in marriage by her father, Rev. Gerald Bullock officiated at the wedding, which was unattended.

A reception was held after the ceremony, Captain and Mrs. MacDonald leaving later for a short trip. They will reside in Halifax.

Weddings

STEWART-MUSGRAVE

The wedding took place quietly, last evening at 8.30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, 2718 Rock Bay Avenue, when Annie, eldest daughter of Mrs. Musgrave, and of the late Mr. T. Musgrave, became the bride of Mr. Gordon Stewart, only son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Stewart, 74 Sims Avenue, Rev. S. Peat officiating. During the service the bride and groom stood beneath a floral arch, and as the register was being signed, the bride, cousin, Mrs. H. Mullen, sang "Because" Mr. Thomas Musgrave gave his sister in marriage, and she looked pretty in a frock of pale blue silk net, with a frilled skirt and short frilled sleeves, and a matching moirai hat, and held a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, white carnations and bouvardia. Her only attendant was her sister Mrs. B. Mitchell, who wore a frock of pink silk net with a deep flounce on the skirt, and short frilled sleeves, and a matching hat, and she held a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. Harry Deacon was best man. The guests, who were relatives and a few close friends, were entertained at supper after the ceremony, by Mrs. Musgrave, assisted by the groom's parents, the table being arranged with pink and white flowers on a lace cloth, and centred with the three-tier cake. Mrs. Musgrave was dressed in navy blue and Mrs. Stewart wore a gown of black flat crepe with white flowers appliqued on the sleeves and at the throat, and they both wore corsage bouquets of carnations and swansonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart left at midnight for Vancouver, the bride going away in a frock of ash of roses crepe with brown accessories and a brown fur coat. They will return to make their home in Victoria. Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. H. Mullen and Miss Dolly Cline, Ladysmith, and Mr. and Mrs. T. Musgrave, Vancouver. Among the gifts was a silver tea service from the bride's former associates.

Clubs-Societies

Alexandra Review

An enjoyable evening was spent on Monday in the A.O.F. Hall when the officers and members of Queen Alexandra Review No. 1, W.B.A., entertained Chemainus Review No. 19 at a banquet and social evening. Nineteen members from Chemainus were present. Mrs. Jean Bowden, convener, with a silver tea service catered for the banquet. The tables were artistically decorated with late Summer flowers. Mrs. Minnie A. Ritchie, president of the Victoria Review, welcomed the visitors, and responded to by Mrs. Florence Underwood, president of the Chemainus Review. Mrs. Minnie A. Ritchie presided over the short business period, at which time a small sum was voted for the Women's Institute of Victoria in aid of the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay. Words of greeting from Chemainus were given by the president, Mrs. F. Underwood, past president, Mrs. Murray, the financial secretary, Mrs. J. Russell Robinson, and the transportation secretary, Mrs. J. Hilmire. The evening was brought to a close by playing amusing games. Light refreshments were served. Prizes for the games were won by Mrs. Clifton Mrs. Underwood, Mrs. O. Work and Miss Gladys Cook, Chemainus, and Mrs. J. Bowden.

Black Is Leader In Autumn Fashions

PICTURED is a smart Fall outfit chosen by Gladys Barlow, daughter of the late Mr. J. Massey, of Peru, and of Mrs. Massey, of San Diego. The outfit consists of a black dress with a high collar and long sleeves, and a matching hat. The dress is made of a light blue silk net with a frilled skirt and short frilled sleeves, and a matching moirai hat. The bride is holding a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, white carnations and bouvardia.

Novelties at Dance Make Bright Affair

Brightly colored balloons and masses of Autumn flowers in gorgeous hues and an entertaining orchestra lent an atmosphere of gaiety at the social dance arranged at the Shrine Hall last night by the S.O.S. Club of Queen City Chapter No. 5, Order of Eastern Star. Approximately 200 persons attended and enjoyed the dancing and playing cards.

A spotlight effect, needless and several old-time dances were interspersed throughout the programme, which was thoroughly enjoyed. For some of the dances prizes were awarded. An auction bridge which was in charge of Mrs. May Sims and Mrs. B. Birnie, prizes were presented the winners. Tickets and prizes were taken care of by Miss H. Edwards and Miss Bonnie Fye.

Two hundred dollars was donated in the colors of the order and 100 Autumn blooms adorned the tables. The sideboard supper was under the supervision of Mrs. May Sims, Mrs. Dora McKnight, Joyce Dixon, Elaine W. Fielding in charge of the decorations.

The general committee included Mrs. J. Deacon and Mrs. G. Deacon. Dancing was continued until 1 o'clock this morning, a delightful evening being enjoyed and the affair was voted a tremendous success.

Wedding of Interest in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23.—London, only daughter of the American Consul-General and Mrs. John Ker Davis, tonight became the bride of Mr. John Powell Roberts, third son of Mrs. J. Powell Roberts and the late John Powell Roberts, Vancouver, in an impressive wedding ceremony in St. Paul's Anglican Church. Rev. Canon Harold King read the marriage rites.

The bride, given in marriage by her father and attended by a quincies of attendants clad in flowing frock of white chiffon, carried a lovely satin bridal robe with a veil of Dummarsmum lace in lily of the valley pattern.

The only married note of the bridal ensemble was a suburn of pearls, a gift from the groom, while her flowers were white bridal roses.

Y.M.C.A. Auxillary Holds Successful Annual Event

Following precedent of several years standing the Ladies' Auxillary of the Y.M.C.A. yesterday held another of their annual Autumn and membership teas, when a number of new names were added to the register of loyal workers, who have done so much to supply home comforts and help the needy in the building at the corner of Blanshard and View Streets.

Mrs. A. J. Watson very generously threw open her charming home, at 2641 Cavendish Avenue, for yesterday's event. The reception-rooms were beautifully decked with flowers, Mrs. Donald McAdie, president of the auxillary, standing with the hostess, Mrs. Watson, to receive the guests in the hall, which had been decorated with autumnal and autumn foliage. At the reception of custom nearby were Mrs. A. V. Clarke and Mrs. Duncan MacBride, who also had charge of the register.

PRESIDENT AT TEA

Presiding at the tea table, with its beautiful central bowl of bronze chrysanthemums, mauve and pink single aster, and maidenhair fern, flanked by ivory tapers in silver sconces, were Mrs. W. J. Pender, Mrs. A. W. W. Willis, Mrs. James Fletcher and Mrs. J. O. Cameron, who took turns, during the afternoon, pouring tea. Mrs. R. W. Maxwell, convener of the refreshment committee, had, as helpers, Mrs. A. S. Locke, Mrs. H. Pender, Mrs. John Johnson and Mrs. Roy Macdonald.

The musical programme, convened by Mrs. Duncan MacBride, took place in the drawing-room, which was decorated with bowls of zinnias, Michaelmas daisies and asters. The vocal solos were greatly enjoyed, Miss Phyllis Deaville singing "Robin Hood" and "Quintuplets Lullaby," both words and music by Johnson, "The Daisy" (Scott), and "Faraf Waltz" (Hawley); and Clarence Kirchin, tenor, singing "Perfect Day," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," "All Through the Night" and "Smilin' Through." Mrs. Catherine Hole was a worthy accompanist.

The artists, as well as the guests, for their continued support in the case of the young men and boys of the city, and the hostess, Mrs. Watson, for lending her home, were warmly thanked by Mrs. McAdie in a graceful little speech she made in the latter part of the afternoon. Pretty corsage bouquets were presented to the hostess, president, various conveners and other workers, and the ladies who poured tea.

On one of the new holding estates, two men were discussing gardening over the dividing hedge, but neither knew anything about it. "I'm thinking of growing some peas," said one. "Have you any idea what is the earliest time for setting them?"

"I dunno," replied the other, scratching his head. "Daybreak, I should think."

DUNCAN UNITED

DUNCAN, Sept. 23.—Members of the United Church Y.P.S., and St. John's and St. Peter's A.Y.P.A., held a joint-meeting at the United Church hall last night. Jack Dobson, president of St. John's A.Y.P.A., occupied the chair. Dr. W. B. Clayton was guest speaker, and his address, which was in connection with the Civic Health Week, was "Prevention Better Than Cure." He complimented the young people on their work in connection with Health Week and paid tribute to Miss Geraldine Homfray, of the Cowichan Health Centre, for her contribution to the success of the undertaking.

The speaker was introduced by Rev. W. P. Burns, and Miss May-Compton Lunde, of St. Peter's A.Y.P.A., thanked him for his address. Miss Homfray gave a summary of the work done during Health Week. Thirteen organizations had health talks and the various competitions received many entries. The photographic contest, for the best baby picture for 1936, was won by David Canning; for 1935, by Ann Hall, and for 1934, by Donald Scott. Honorable mention had been awarded to James Swanson, Donna Nokes, Wilfred Kinzale, Norman Talbot, and Lillian Bigwood, all 1935 entries. The judges were Miss L. M. Clark, Hugh Savage, M.P.P., and J. B. Turnbull.

The Health Week Limerick contest, arranged by the C. G. Palmer Chapter, I.O.D.E. was won by Leona Stues, of Hillcrest, and the special children's prize went to Hope Campbell. Special films were shown at the local theatre and special health propaganda appeared in the local press. At a meeting of the Health Week committee, held after the general meeting, it was found that 44 residents in the treaty, which will be donated to dental work through the Health Centre.

"I dunno," replied the other, scratching his head. "Daybreak, I should think."

by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council from one or more candidates nominated by the municipal council was passed by the convention.

The resolution, presented from the Victoria City Council, met with no opposition.

The questions on consolidation of municipal sinking funds, consolidation of arrears of taxes and expropriation of assessments on certain farm lands, given lengthy study by the resolutions committee, were referred to the incoming executive to devise the best line of action and to confer with Government authorities.

What Today Means

"LIBRA"

If September 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:10 to 11:10 a.m., from 3:10 to 5:10 p.m., and from 8:10 to 10:10 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:10 to 9:10 a.m. from 5:10 to 7:10 p.m. and from 10:10 p.m. until midnight.

What you condemn on this day, you may be guilty of doing the following day. It may be good judgment to be broad-minded and unprejudiced for persons and actions are liable to be subjected to radical changes within the next forty-eight hours. Salesmanship is likely to be needed in the presentation of any new idea or policy today, so do not take it for granted that a casual introduction of either will be all that is required to have them accepted. Where service has been rendered, it will pay to show your appreciation in a substantial way. Praise is likely to work wonders in the way of stimulating effort this day, so it will be worthwhile trying it in either home or office. Social life is apt to be rather strenuous this day unless you plan your activities discreetly. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who have surrendered their heart had best not put off, until the last moment, attending to anything they have requested to do for procrastination this day will be the cause of many a quarrel.

If a woman and September 24 is your natal day, be careful that rivalry does not turn out to be your worst enemy. It can cost you friends and make enemies. This is a good day on which to keep in mind the old saying "He that swears late must rue all day." Clasp at social gatherings, is liable to be the basis on many a false and exaggerated report, so hear only good, and if you are wise you will not repeat evil. Be being alert you may be in the position of doing a great amount of good this day, which will earn you perhaps thanks and a worthwhile reward. As an educator, dancer, musician, actress, author, or commercial employee, your advancement will possibly be very rapid. Your domestic life especially if marriage claims you ought to be very happy.

The child born on September 24 is likely to be a natural artist. If a man and September 24 is your birthday, you must keep free from intrigues. If you play the game of life the way it should be, you are likely to win a grand prize. Take architecture, medicine, promoting selling writing and painting may prove easy to make both a name and fortune.

Plane Takes Injured Man To Hospital

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23.—Kathleen Pearson was in hospital here today suffering from pneumonia and severely crushed ribs, the result of a logging accident at Rock Bay, north of Campbell River in Vancouver Island.

Pearson was brought to Vancouver today in an airplane piloted by G. W. C. Dobbin, Vancouver pilot, who made the mercy flight in answer to an emergency call received here last night. Hospital authorities reported Pearson's condition critical.

The last word in coffee flavor and reasonably priced

ANYBODY CAN AFFORD IT—"We used to think that good coffee had to be expensive. But anyone can afford Chase & Sanborn Coffee. And it's better, richer coffee than we've ever had before. My husband says he has never tasted a coffee that was so satisfying."

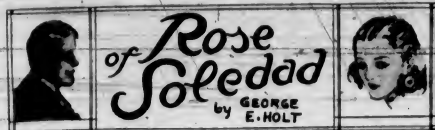

LIKES PEPPY FLAVOR—"Chase & Sanborn Coffee is so rich and cheering, my work seems twice as easy. It must be fine quality, to taste so good. Yet the price is so very reasonable."

PASSES TWO TESTS—"I use two tests on everything I buy. I insist on the finest quality—and the price must be reasonable for the value received. I must say Chase & Sanborn Coffee passes both tests with flying colors... it's wonderfully flavorful, yet economically priced."

SUPERB FLAVOR and a reasonable price are the twin advantages that make Chase & Sanborn the coffee choice of so many families.

Chase & Sanborn owes its rich, delicious flavor to the world's choicest coffees, skillfully blended and roasted by experts. No wonder it has been Canada's favorite for more than 70 years!

Yet it's not high priced—anyone can afford this superb blend. Treat yourself to this extra-rich, reasonably priced coffee tomorrow! Packed in pound and half-pound vacuum tins.

CHAPTER VI
There's what's left of your plane," said the girl, breaking into his shaken thoughts. He followed the gesture she made, saw the wreckage of Pegasus on a dusty brown hillside, half a dozen people poking around it. "That's Mr. Anderson's ranch," Rose offered. "His house is about half a mile farther on."

"Thanks," said Shane. "I'll stop a minute." The remainder of the journey to San Diego was nothing to put into a history book.

Miss Delane remained rigid and was silent.

Shane O'Hara drove, and was silent.

The yellow roads unrolled; small towns marched past unnoticed. To Shane's angry eye even quiet San Diego Old Town was only another place. It might be Ramona's marriage place, and where the flag was first raised, and as far as he was concerned, it might also be where Columbus landed his ham and eggs.

In San Diego city she had to come to his rescue for her own sake. She advised as to route, indicated the place to park, arranged to meet him in the lounge of a certain hotel in mid-afternoon. Then they parted with cool, formal nods.

Shane attended to his business. In a leisurely manner. Women were usually late anyhow. He didn't want to loaf around the hotel for an hour or two. But he found that he would by no means have time for that visit to Lindbergh Field.

When he did arrive, the girl was not waiting for him. He sealed himself, lit a cigarette. And then came a uniformed young person packing "Mr. O'Hara's" Mr. Shane O'Hara's.

Shane beckoned. The page went to him.

"Message for Mr. Shane O'Hara," said he.

Shane nodded, took the message, performed the usual rite with the boy's hand. The note read:

"Dear Mr. O'Hara: I've met up with a friend—a neighbor—who will take me home, so you need not wait."

"Sincerely,
—R.D."

Confound the girl! Shane O'Hara drove back home.

It was between San Felix and Rancho Soledad that Shane, driving at a good fifty, lifted his foot from the gas and let the car slow down.

Half a mile ahead was another car, apparently in trouble, stewed around half of the road. A man walked around it, peering at it.

In a moment more, Shane recognized the man. Or, rather, recognized the floppy-brimmed Panama hat and the white ducks that Don Fernando Miller usually wore.

His own machine slid up, and he braked it to a stop. Yes; the man was Don Fernando, and when he looked at Shane's face was a picture of welcome.

"In trouble?" Shane asked, needlessly. The rear wheels of the car were off the roadbed, in a ditch. The dirt was soft, sandy. The efforts of the drive wheels to pull themselves out had merely resulted in their digging deeper and deeper. Apparently the driver had been careless, or had been going too fast when he met up with the curve of the road right here. Or one of the tires might have blown out. The car was a heavy eight-coupe.

"Oh," grunted Don Fernando. "It's Mr. O'Hara." He did not seem glad to see Mr. O'Hara. "Yes, a tire blew out. Threw me into the ditch—New tire, too."

"Hard luck," said Shane. "Got a tow rope?" I can yank you out of the ditch—and I see you're carrying a spare."

"I don't carry a tow rope," said Don Fernando. "I never have trouble with my car."

Shane smiled. "Maybe there's one in the back of this bus," he said. "I'll look."

"There's no use looking," said a girl's voice, then, surprisingly. "I know there isn't any there." Rose Delane threw open the door of Fernando's car and stepped out. "The thing to do is for Mr. O'Hara to drive to the ranch and get a tow rope. It's only a mile or two. And then he can take me with him. I do not like to sit in dead cars while gentlemen pray over them."

Don Fernando scowled, and shrugged his shoulders. Shane O'Hara raised his eyebrows in surprise and looked at Miss Delane with some apprehension.

"You'll let me ride with you, won't you?" Mr. O'Hara she asked sweetly.

"Certainly, Miss Delane," Shane replied. "With pleasure."

The girl cast a quick look at him. Was irony audible in those last two words?

"Let's go, then," she said, and climbed into Shane's car. Adios, Don Fernando. Contain yourself until the rescue party returns."

Shane threw in the clutch and the car shot away, leaving Don Fernando Miller glaring at its shining back. Shane drove—and meditated.

How can you explain women? The girl had frosted his ears on the way to San Diego, had ditched him for a return ride with Don Fernando; then had coolly deserted Don Fernando and returned to Shane O'Hara. And now she was chattering like a schoolgirl on a picnic, about this and that and half a dozen other things, as though her conduct were not only conventional, but praiseworthy. Shane cocked a skeptical eye at the road. Maybe she was taking this task to avoid having to answer embarrassing questions. Like, why she had blithely ridden away with Don Fernando.

And then he remembered what she had said about that gentleman. Maybe she had met Don Fernando in town, and he had insisted that she returned with him. Maybe, somehow, Shane O'Hara couldn't picture this girl yielding to insistence—unless she wanted to. But he kept his jaws closed and asked no questions and very soon they were at Soledad.

"If you'll tell me where I could find a tow rope," he said, then, "I'll get Don Fernando out of the ditch."

"I'll see," replied the girl. Lifting up her voice she called, "Oye! Oye! Manuelito!"

"Si, senorita," a distant voice replied. And shortly a young Mexican came limping. To him Miss Delane addressed quick Spanish words like the rolling of a drum.

The Mexican youth's face was covered by a smile, his dark eyes snapped; apparently he was an humble but devoted worshipper of his Lady of Soledad.

"You might as well sit down on the porch and be comfortable," she said to Shane. "It may take Manuelito quite a while to find a rope. We don't often need one—always, however. But I think there's one around here—some place. I must report to me."

Shane remained in the car. He smoked a cigarette. Oughtn't to take Manuelito long to find a tow rope on as well managed a place as Soledad. He finished his smoke, perched another. No Manuelito, though. He had been sitting here for ten minutes. Weren't women funny! And Don Fernando would be waiting. He finished his smoke, perched another. No Manuelito, though. The Mexican youth's face was covered with a smile, his dark eyes snapped; apparently he was an humble but devoted worshipper of his Lady of Soledad.

Shane nodded, took the message, performed the usual rite with the boy's hand. The note read:

"Dear Mr. O'Hara: I've met up with a friend—a neighbor—who will take me home, so you need not wait."

"Sincerely,
—R.D."

Confound the girl! Shane O'Hara drove back home.

It was between San Felix and Rancho Soledad that Shane, driving at a good fifty, lifted his foot from the gas and let the car slow down.

Half a mile ahead was another car, apparently in trouble, stewed around half of the road. A man walked around it, peering at it.

In a moment more, Shane recognized the man. Or, rather, recognized the floppy-brimmed Panama hat and the white ducks that Don Fernando Miller usually wore.

His own machine slid up, and he braked it to a stop. Yes; the man was Don Fernando, and when he looked at Shane's face was a picture of welcome.

"In trouble?" Shane asked, needlessly. The rear wheels of the car were off the roadbed, in a ditch. The dirt was soft, sandy. The efforts of the drive wheels to pull themselves out had merely resulted in their digging deeper and deeper. Apparently the driver had been careless, or had been going too fast when he met up with the curve of the road right here. Or one of the tires might have blown out. The car was a heavy eight-coupe.

"Oh," grunted Don Fernando. "It's Mr. O'Hara." He did not seem glad to see Mr. O'Hara. "Yes, a tire blew out. Threw me into the ditch—New tire, too."

"Hard luck," said Shane. "Got a tow rope?" I can yank you out of the ditch—and I see you're carrying a spare."

"I don't carry a tow rope," said Don Fernando. "I never have trouble with my car."

Shane smiled. "Maybe there's one in the back of this bus," he said. "I'll look."

"There's no use looking," said a girl's voice, then, surprisingly. "I know there isn't any there." Rose Delane threw open the door of Fernando's car and stepped out. "The thing to do is for Mr. O'Hara to drive to the ranch and get a tow rope. It's only a mile or two. And then he can take me with him. I do not like to sit in dead cars while gentlemen pray over them."

Don Fernando scowled, and shrugged his shoulders. Shane O'Hara raised his eyebrows in surprise and looked at Miss Delane with some apprehension.

"You'll let me ride with you, won't you?" Mr. O'Hara she asked sweetly.

"Certainly, Miss Delane," Shane replied. "With pleasure."

Complete Tie-Up of Coast Shipping Is Due for Next Week

Spokesman for Sailors States There Will Be No Crews Available for Work if Differences Are Not Satisfactorily Settled

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23 (AP).—A complete tie-up of coast shipping on October 1 was predicted today by Harry Lundberg, secretary-treasurer of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, unless employers get together with the union before the present working agreement expires on September 30.

T. G. Plant, chairman of the shipowners' committee, said if new agreements are not reached the question of continued operation will depend on workers.

"If enough men report for work we will continue," he said. "If not, there will be a shutdown."

Lundberg replied there would be no available union crews.

"If the employers want a union crew after their lockout, which will come after October 1, they won't get it," Lundberg declared. "No East Coast men or West Coast union men will sail as a 'scab' on the shipowners' conditions."

Plant reiterated his belief arbitration was the only means of settling the disputes.

SOME PROBLEMS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP).—With President Roosevelt expected to name the new maritime commission shortly, shipping board officials said today among its numerous problems will be the prescription of minimum wage scales and "reasonable" working conditions for United States seamen.

The five-member commission will have authority to fix minimum wage scales and to designate working conditions on all ocean-going vessels which received operating subsidies.

FREIGHTER TIED UP

SEATTLE, Sept. 23 (AP).—The freighter Mana, fully laden and ready to sail for Hawaii, was tied up today when ten members of the crew were refused transportation back to this coast or the equivalent in cash in case of a coastwise strike at the termination of the Employers' and seamen's agreement next Wednesday.

Company officials denied their demands and the men left the ship, causing postponement of the sailing.

Pete Gill, agent here for the Sailors' Union, said the walkout was not a strike and the union was attempting to replace them.

Other steamship companies operating in the inter-coastal trade were reported receiving the same demands from their crews.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23 (AP).—M. B. Bunting, of the Silver Java-Pacific Line, today was loading here for Philippine, Dutch East Indies, Straits Settlements, Colombo and Bombay. The vessel will stop at Sourabaya for annual inspection, her cargo and passengers being shifted to the Silver Java for the balance of the journey.

Ms. Hikawa Maru, of Nippon Yusen Kaisha, arrived overnight from Seattle, and sailed later in the day for Powell River to load with paper.

The German liner Ss. Stauffert arrived here today on the regular service of the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd Lines.

SUPERSTRUCTURE AND CABIN OF FISHBOAT WERE BADLY DAMAGED

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23 (AP).—The fishing boat K.V. 95, valued at $1,000, was badly damaged by an explosion and fire on the Fraser River today.

A Japanese named Yamafoti struck a match in the boat's cabin. An explosion followed, blowing up the boat's superstructure and setting fire to the vessel.

Yamafoti was uninjured.

PROSPECTS FOR INDUSTRY GOOD

Demand for B.C. Lumber Products Increasing in United Kingdom

Prospects for an increasing demand for British Columbia lumber products are bright at the present time. Just now the bulk of it is moving to United Kingdom ports, but there is also a growing demand for sawn timber and logs from Australia and Orient countries.

The United States is not buying much at present, and the possibility of Canada exporting anything like the quota set under the recent Ottawa-Washington tariff agreement to that country is remote. In fact, lumbermen are of the opinion that this year will not reach 150,000,000 board measure feet. The quota is 250,000,000 feet.

Ships continue to keep the local assembly plant fairly busy. Yesterday King Brothers stated they had fifteen ships to arrive here in the next few weeks. Today the Langley Street shipping firm is looking for the freighters Penrose and Rodney, which will load for the United Kingdom. They will be followed in by the freighter Sunnington Coast on Friday evening or Saturday morning.

SAILING NEXT MONTH

According to advice received from the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Ltd., Vancouver, B.C., the company's appointed Canadian Minister to Japan, will sail from Victoria aboard the Ss. Empress of Japan on October 17. He and Mrs. Bruce are at present visiting at Windermere.

Waterspout Seen By Residents of Little Qualicum

LITTLE QUALICUM, Sept. 23.—The interesting phenomenon of a waterspout was observed from Little Qualicum last week in the channel towards Lasqueti Island. The disturbance began soon after 6 p.m., and the spout was seen to rise to the sky and remain suspended for more than ten minutes, when it tapered away at the base and finally collapsed. A fine view was obtained by E. J. Costain, of Qualicum Beach, and W. Tibbets, of Little Qualicum, who were on the beach at the time.

NOTICE TO MARINERS

Mariners are advised that the lights maintained on the beacon at the foot of Nicola Street, False Creek, Vancouver Harbor, are discontinued. Range marks leading into False Creek have been established consisting of a red cross diagonally on a white ground and showing red lights at night. The bearing of the range is 134 degrees from seaward. The upper light and mark is situated on the centre span of Burrard Street Bridge and the lower one on the pier of the swing span of Kitano Island Bridge.

FAIL TO RALLY FROM DELICATE OPERATION

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP).—Baby Julian Telf's six days of distressed life ended tonight despite a delicate intestinal operation performed in expectation of saving him from a death of "mercy."

Born with a colon abnormality which meant death if left uncorrected, the infant underwent the surgery yesterday after his father, Julian Telf, Sr., finally consented to the operation in response to the entreaties of his wife.

RESTORATION FUND REACHES COMPLETION

TORONTO, Sept. 23 (AP).—Completion of the restoration fund begun three years ago to repair losses in Rupert's Land was announced here yesterday by Rev. Canon S. Condit at the annual meeting of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada. It was stated gifts amounting to $796,138 had been received.

PILOT PASSES ON MAINLAND

Captain Moore Succumbs to Stroke and Fall on Shipboard

NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 23 (AP).—Capt. J. Moore, seventy-year-old Puget Sound pilot of Seattle, died here today from a stroke suffered last Friday aboard the British tramp steamer King John.

Captain Moore had piloted the vessel to the international boundary from Seattle, then turned it over to a Canadian pilot.

As the ship crept up the river in a heavy fog, the pioneer pilot stepped from his cabin to a "companionway" stairs, then suffered a stroke and plunged down the stairway, severely striking his head.

He was rushed to a hospital here, believed to be suffering from a fractured skull. Doctors found his skull was not fractured, however, and that he only had a severe head wound.

Mrs. Moore was brought from Seattle by airplane on Saturday and rushed to her husband's side.

Flying Boat Crossed to Azores in Less Than Eighteen Hours

HORTA, The Azores, Sept. 23 (AP).—The Aerolus, ten-ton German Lufthansa flying boat, arrived safely at 1:40 p.m. G.M.T. today (5:40 a.m. P.S.T.), from New York.

The flight was made in the fast time of seventeen hours and forty-seven minutes.

The Aerolus, all-metal monoplane, was captained by Baron Hans von Engel, who with his crew of three, was completing a round-trip flight.

The ten-ton flying boat was catapulted over the waters of Long Island Sound at 1:53 a.m. P.S.T. yesterday from the mothership Schwabenland before a group of about 100 selected observers, including United States Army flying officers.

The Aerolus' sister-ship, the Zephyr, was left behind at Port Washington. The Zephyr will start tomorrow for Bermuda, to which the Schwabenland is proceeding. From there it, too, will be catapulted for the Azores.

Other flight, to New York and Newfoundland, are to be made next month.

Two Engineers of Danish Freighter Are Badly Burned

Martin Kendrick Madsen, fourth engineer, and Peter A. Thorkelsen, junior assistant engineer, of the Danish freighter Asbjorn, are in the Royal Jubilee Hospital here suffering from burns, the results of an explosion aboard the ship early yesterday morning.

The Asbjorn was proceeding to sea on her way from Vancouver to Adelaide when the two men, who were on duty in the engine room, were caught in a blowback from the heating furnace, and anchored, from where the men were sent ashore. They are being attended by Dr. A. E. McMicking. The Asbjorn continued on her way shortly before noon yesterday.

ONE CHANGE IN TRAIN SERVICE

Kettle Valley Express From Vancouver Leaving 7:45 P.M. Instead of 6:15

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23.—Only one change in passenger train schedules in and out of Vancouver is noted in the Canadian Pacific Railway's new time table for the British Columbia district going into effect at 12:01 a.m. Sunday.

This is the departure of train No. 12, the Kettle Valley Express, from Vancouver at 7:45 p.m. daily, instead of at 6:15 p.m., as it was during the summer season. No. 12 will thereafter arrive in Penticton at 7:30 a.m. daily, half an hour later than at present.

No. 11, the Kootenay Express, from Medicine Hat by way of Cranbrook, Nelson, Penticton and Kettle Valley points, will continue to reach Vancouver at 10 a.m.

Transcontinental train service remains unchanged. No. 3, the Dominion Express, arrives at 9 a.m.; No. 4, eastbound Dominion, leaves at 7:15 p.m. for Toronto and Montreal; No. 1, from Montreal, arrives at 10:30 p.m., and No. 2, for Montreal, leaves at 9:30 a.m. daily.

KEPT IN BED BY BACKACHE

Now—Thanks to Kruschen—Not a Trace of Pain

This woman's life was made a misery by the pains of backache. Then her father, who had proved the value of Kruschen himself, advised her to try it. She did, and here is her grateful letter:

"For years I have been suffering with pains in the back. At times I had to stay in bed for days. I could not walk or even stand. My father was using Kruschen salts for the same thing. He, too, used to suffer badly, and Kruschen relieved him. He advised me to try it. I did so, and after a few days the pain was gone. I then neglected my daily dose for about six months, and two months ago the pain returned. I tried another remedy—it failed so I again started Kruschen. Now I have not a trace of pain, thanks to Kruschen." Mrs. H.R.

Pains in the back are usually due to impurities in the blood—waste products which the internal organs are failing to expel from the system. The numerous salts in Kruschen assist in stimulating these organs to healthy, normal activity, and so help them to keep the system free from harmful waste matter. (Adv.)

Red Cross Began As Movement for Aid of Wounded

Great International Organization Outgrowth of Publication of Henri Dunant in 1862—Now Has Millions of Members and Does Great Humanitarian Work in Many Lands

HISTORY of the Red Cross movement dates back to 1862, when the fundamental idea, which has become associated with the Red Cross was first enunciated as the result of a publication by Henri Dunant, at Geneva.

Dunant had witnessed scenes of bloodshed during the war in Italy and his booklet gave a shocking account of the sufferings of the wounded left to perish on the battlefields for lack of proper medical treatment. He urged the necessity of constituting permanent societies for the aid of the wounded with the purpose of forming volunteer detachments and expressed the hope, says Encyclopaedia Britannica, that he might live to see "the leaders of the military art of different nationalities agree upon some sacred international principle, sanctioned by convention, which, once signed and ratified, would serve as a basis for the creation of societies for the aid of the wounded in the different European countries."

Joseph Rose Installs Latest Time Micrometer

The latest innovation of science has been installed by Joseph Rose, Limited, well-known jewelers, at 1013 Government Street, in an effort to give the public an even higher standard of service. This takes the form of the new Paulson Time Micrometer, an amazing instrument which gives the precise variations of a watch over a period of twenty-four hours in one minute's time.

The Micrometer embodies an entirely new principle which revolutionizes the work of watch adjustment and testing. The watch is placed on a panel and the tick, magnified many times until it is comparable to the tap of a mallet, is synchronized with that of a master timepiece. The minutest variation is registered on an illuminated dial and from the reading the operator can tell to the fraction of a second what that watch will gain or lose in twenty-four hours. With this knowledge the adjustment is easily made.

This service, unique in Victoria, and offered to the public absolutely free, must prove an inestimable boon. Previously it has been necessary to leave a watch for several days at the jeweler, putting the patron to the inconvenience of being without a timepiece or carrying a borrowed watch. This is obviated by the Micrometer, the whole operation of testing and adjusting taking but a few minutes. The element of human error is removed, for the reading of the dial states beyond doubt the exact adjustment to be made.

North to the torrid South and the work it performs cannot be valued in dollars and cents. When disaster strikes the Red Cross goes into action with a perfectly formed organization. It asks no reward other than the general support of the people by contribution.

With the increased tasks, many of which were brought on by the depression, the Red Cross has performed its duties faithfully, although budgets have been depleted by the extra drain on the financial resources of the organization at home and abroad and it has been found necessary from time to time to make appeals for funds.

Court of Appeal Victoria Sittings

Present: The Chief Justice, Martin and Mr. A. Macdonald, J.J.A. T. Pavich, and some ninety others (mechanics' lien claimants) vs. Tulameen Coal Mines, Limited, Dixon & Kennedy Properties, Limited, Robert Dixon and William Kennedy.

As noted yesterday, Mr. Macdonald's motion to quash the appeal on a point of jurisdiction raised an interesting question under Section 35 of the Mechanics' Lien Act, which limits the amount for which an appeal lies for $250. All the claimants, except one, a material man, were much under the appealable amount. The claims had been consolidated for the purposes of the trial, but this would not affect the individual rights of the claimants, and the statute (Section 36) deals with the distribution of any amount adjudged in a consolidated action among the several claimants according to the sum coming to them respectively, so that there could not be an appeal on the whole amount awarded at the trial. The court gave time to Mr. Taylor during the recess to consider his answer to the motion. There are several decisions of this court on the point, for instance in Baker vs. The Uplands, Limited (1913), 18 B.C. 197, where upon appeal from a judgment dismissing the action in which claims of several lien holders, some of which were less than $250, were consolidated in one action, it was held that only each individual claim of $250 or more had a right of appeal. Similar decisions were given in Gabriel vs. Jackson Mines, Limited (1906), 15 B.C. 372, 2 M.M.C. 329, and Giles Supply Company vs. Allan (1910), 15 B.C. 375.

At the opening of the sitting yesterday Mr. Taylor announced that after due consideration of the authorities on the question he felt bound to defer to those authorities, and that the motion must be allowed. The appeal then proceeded on the merits on the $434.67 item. The claims total $9,199.39, for work and labor performed and material supplied to the Tulameen Collieries, Limited, which leased the mine from the Tulameen Coal Mines, Limited, under a working lease or bond. There were two mortgages given by the Tulameen Coal Mines, Limited, held by Dixon & Kennedy Properties, Limited, and the lease was subject to these mortgages. There is also a chattel mortgage on the equipment. The Workmen's Compensation Board hold a judgment on the property for $17,039.36. The claimants were employed by the Tulameen Collieries, Limited, the lessees, and claim priority to the mortgages. The defence generally is a denial

CLOSE GAMES MARK OPENING OF MID-WEEK SOCCER

Longshoremen and Spencers Draw, 2-2; Navy and Bays Tie

New Entry Gives Last Year's Champions Good Battle—Sailors and Hudson's Bay Finish in 3-3 Deadlock—Good Crowd Attends

Draws featured the opening games played in the Wednesday Football League yesterday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park. In the initial fixture, a smart team entered by the Victoria Longshoremen held Spencers, last year's champions, to a 2-2 draw. A squad of youngsters from the Navy matched the Hudson's Bay goal-for-goal to tie up the second game three minutes.

Spencers opened the scoring shortly after the opening whistle, but Holness came back a short time later to even things up for the Longshoremen. The boys from the docks went out in front towards the end of the half when Rockamp slipped one in under the bar, making it 2-1. The second half was still young when "Shorty" Collins rang the net for the department store side. Spencers were still forcing the play at the whistle, but could not break through the "dockers' defence for a score.

The Bays appeared headed for victory in the first half of the second fixture, but the young, inexperienced sailors fought back and even went one up late in the closing half. Fielding only three of last year's regular team, the Navy were greatly handicapped by their lack of experience, but nevertheless they showed some young talent that will be heard from before the end of the season.

OPENING SCORING
McMillan rang up Spencers' first tally when he banged one past Fleming on a cross from Stewart, minutes after the start of the game. The Longshoremen pressed hard and the stellar work of "Scotty" McGee, the Longshoremen's half, kept them continually on the attack.

Rockamp slipped a pass to Holness in front of the net, and the little right-winger made it one-all. Fleming, in goal for the Longshoremen, had a hard time of it when the department store boys found their shooting eyes and peppered him from all angles. Gordie Eastwood played a bang-up game on the Longshoremen's defence to save his team from a lot of trouble.

DOCKERS LEAD
On a centre from Holness, Rockamp sent the ball home, putting

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX MORRISON

A bad round need not start with a missed shot. Few players seem to realize this. Most of them are killed or badly upset by the first mistake they make on the course.

Golfers in general are optimistic in that they expect results much better than they get. When you look for a drive off the first tee and get one that goes out of bounds or just dribbles into the rough, it is something of a shock to have your hopes dashed so quickly, but it is part of the game to meet this reverse promptly.

The earlier such a thing happens during your round the more you must be on your guard to prevent an upset. Remember that every player will make mistakes; not one, but several, during a game. The point is to avoid adding to the burden of your mistakes by making bigger ones.

"It would help us to dispose of your property, madam," said the estate agent, "if you would permit us to insert a suitable description of its amenities in the columns of the press."

GREAT BOXER PASSES AWAY

"Packey" McFarland, One Of World's Finest Light-weights, Succumbs

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP)—"Packey" McFarland, one of the world's greatest light-weight boxers twenty-five years ago, died today at his home in Joliet, Ill., of a streptococcus infection. He had been ill two months.

McFarland was forty-eight years old. He is survived by a widow, three daughters and a son.

The famous boxer, engaging in 110 battles from 1904 until 1912, never lost a decision, and only twice was knocked off his feet.

Among the notables he met in the ring were Freddie Welsh, Jack Britton, Mike Gibbons, Tommy Murphy, Leah Cross, Benny Vanger, Cyclone Johnny Thompson, Ray Bronson, Jimmy Britt and a host of others, lightweights and welterweights.

In 1912, McFarland stood supreme in his class, but he weighed 135 pounds, two pounds over the light-weight limit of those days. He refused to take chances in impairing his health by reducing.

FORSCHEN AND ANDERSON TO WRESTLE HERE

Mainlander to Meet Seattle Grappler Tomorrow at Tillicum Gym

Leo Numa Anderson, Seattle's handsome Swedish grappler and protégé of the late Charlie Hansen, will return to the Tillicum gymnasium tomorrow evening to share the top spot in the weekly aqueduct wrestling with Jack Forsgren, Vancouver freeman. The boys were booked yesterday by Promoter Fred Richardson. They will wrestle for eight ten-minute rounds, or the best two of three falls.

Anderson, one of the smartest wrestlers to show at the local gymnasium in the last two or three years, gained instant popularity with Victoria fans when he appeared here against clever Pat Fraloy. Possessing a world of speed and a complete knowledge of the many punishing holds in the mat game, the Seattle Swede should give the Mainlander plenty of trouble. Forsgren showed here last week and defeated Leo Papanio, rugged Salt Lake City grappler, in the main event.

MADE RETURNS
Manley Meade, former American football star, who took the count last Saturday when he landed on the ropes and then fell to the floor, has been booked for a return match with Louie Newman, Victoria exponent of the mat game.

Chief Thunderbird, Saanich Indian, and victor over George "Cannonball" Kitzmiller, Portland, a famous bout last week, has been signed for the semi-final position on the card. His opponent has yet to be named. The local matchmaker is making every effort to bring the Portlander back for a return bout.

The first match will start at 8:45 o'clock.

Security Prices Higher Again at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP).—Buffeted by light profit-taking squalls, the stock market today found the going a bit rough at times, but Motors and specialties provided early buying fuel for the list and a number of issues moved up fractionally to 2 or more points in quite lively trading. Several registered new tops for the past six years.

Transfers amounted to 1,483,870 shares, against 1,549,830 in the previous session.

Steel stocks slipped with others in the final hour when realizing was most pronounced.

General Motors, most active stock of the day, was off 1-4 at 68-8.

The huge refunding programme announced by American Telephone, on which rumors have been made for some weeks past in Wall Street, brought no fireworks in this case. It ended off 7-8 of a point at 174-5/8.

America's largest utility, the Edison Electric, came to the close up 1-2 to 102-1/2.

Many long-proved rail and industrial issues ended their gains in the bond market.

In the low and medium-priced rail group, New Haven, a leader advanced 3-1/4 to 33-1/4.

Convertible issues sold off. Slide-baker 6s losing 1-1/4 to 114.

Governments were dull and foreign obligations irregular.

I WANT YOU, MY FRIENDS, TO HAVE A TYPICAL EXAMPLE OF THE PROBLEMS THAT COME OVER MY DESK.—THIS ONE PUZZLES A WOMAN WHO LOVES A DIVORCED MAN.

I want you, my friends, to have a typical example of the problems that come over my desk.

Now him and the ex-wife is in business together on a fifty-fifty basis. Now she has an apartment on the boulevard paying thirty-five

Now he seems to think quite a lot of me and comes every night, with or without ear, and he is always telling me that some day I shall belong to him. I think she knows what he thinks of me, and she sent two very nasty letters to me.

Just wait until his ex-wife gets tired of him or shall I stop him now. I've gone with him ever since I saw the divorce papers, and really care for him. Hate to give him up but something has to be done. I can't stand this. He isn't doing one thing about it, still

IT'S TIME FOR A SHOW-DOWN

Since the man is divorced he is free to ask another woman to become his wife, and he would do so if he loves and needs her, and if his finances would permit.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Buster Bear Gives It All Away
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

It was very plain to see that Old Man Coyote had quite lost his appetite. It was very clear that he wasn't thinking about his stomach just then, but about his legs and how fast they could go. He had been half way up the hill when he first saw the terrible creature without head, tail, or legs rolling down straight at him. He stopped only long enough for one good look, and then he started for the bottom of the hill as fast as he could make his legs go. Now, it is a very bad plan to run down hill. Yes, sir, it is a very bad plan. You see, once you are started, it is not the easiest thing in the world to stop. And then again, you are quite likely to stub your toes.

This is what Old Man Coyote did. He stubbed his toes and turned a complete somersault. He looked as funny that little scamp watching him had all they could do to keep from shouting right out. Old Grumpy Fox and Reddy Fox, watching from a safe distance, did laugh. You know, they have not been friendly with Old Man Coyote since he came to live on the Green Meadows, and as they had themselves had a terrible fright when they first saw the strange creature, they rejoiced in seeing him frightened. But Old Man Coyote didn't stop for a little thing like a tumble. Oh, my, no! He just rolled over onto his feet and was off again harder than before. Now, there are very few people who can see behind them without turning their heads as Peter Rabbit can, and Old Man Coyote is not one of them. Trying to watch behind him, he didn't see where he was going, and the first thing he knew he ran bump into—guess who? Why, Buster Bear, to be sure! Where Buster had come from nobody knew, but there he was, as big as life. When Old Man Coyote ran into him, Buster raised a deep, provoked growl and whirled around with one big paw raised to cuff whoever had so nearly upset him. Old Man Coyote, more frightened than ever, yelped and ran harder than before, so that by the time Buster Bear saw who it was who had run into him he was safely out of reach and still running.

Then it was that Buster Bear first saw the strange creature rolling down the hill which had so frightened Old Man Coyote. Up Billy Possum, Jimmy Skunk, Sammy Jay, Peter Rabbit, and Mrs. Peewee, watching from safe hiding places, wondered if Buster would run too. If he did it would be almost too good to be true. But he didn't. He looked first at the strange creature rolling down the hill, then at Old Man Coyote running as hard as ever he could, and his shrewd little eyes began to twinkle. Then he began to laugh. "Ha, ha, ha! Ho, ho, ho! Ha, ha, ho! I see you are up to your old tricks, Prickly Porky," he shouted as the strange creature rolled past at most over his toes and brought up against a little tree at the foot of the hill. Old Man Coyote heard him and stopped short and turned to see what it meant. Very slowly the strange creature unrolled and turned over. There was a head, tail, and a tail and four legs. It was none other than Prickly Porky himself. There was no doubt about it, though he still looked very strange, for he was covered with dead leaves, which clung to the thousand little spines hidden in his coat. Prickly Porky grinned. "You shouldn't have given me away, Buster Bear, just because you have seen me roll down hill before in the Great Woods where we both came from," said he. "I think it was high time I did," replied Buster Bear, still chuckling. "You might have scared somebody to death down here where they don't know you."

"You shouldn't have given me away, Buster Bear."

Then everybody came out of their hiding places laughing and "welcome" all at once, as they told Buster Bear of the joke they had played on Old Man Coyote, and how it had all grown out of the fright Peter Rabbit had received when he just happened along as Prickly Porky was rolling down hill just for fun. As for Old Man Coyote, he sneaked away, grinding his teeth angrily. Like a great many other people, he couldn't take a joke on himself.

will tell you that in the early stages of cancer, tuberculosis and heart disease—three diseases that stand at the top as a cause of death—early discovery and treatment can effect a cure in cancer and tuberculosis, and if heart ailments are discovered early and the patient is instructed how to live within his strength, his life can be prolonged for many years.

Dr. Jerome R. Head, medical director, Napierville (Ill.) Sanatorium, in a talk before the Lake County (Ill.) Tuberculosis Association, said: "The means for completely removing tuberculosis are: 1) the possibility of early diagnosis; 2) the knowledge of how tuberculosis is communicated from one person to another, thus permitting us to put open or active cases away from others in sanatoriums."

Similarly with cancer. Cancer is curable in the early stage, and if the early signs are known, then lines of value to families and communities can be saved that otherwise would be lost. Dr. Henry Schnitz, associate editor for radiology clinical medicine and surgery, says: "Cancer is curable in the early stages, and the early stage can be discovered by the alert family physician if the patient is wise enough to consult him."

Dr. Schnitz makes the following suggestions: When chronic skin ulcers become hardened it may be early cancer.

When a pigmented mole is light brown, becomes dark it is probably turning into cancer. When little hard, scaly bumps or warts become most a danger for the worse is taking place. When little white thick patches on the skin break open a change is taking place. When difficulty in swallowing is felt a growth may be forming. An X-ray and examination by a lighted instrument will show up the trouble if present. When an inflammation of the breast becomes hard it should have portion cut out and examined by the microscope. When loss of appetite comes on suddenly or indigestion has existed for a long time, or hoarseness or harkness persists, and suffer are slow in healing, the doctor should be consulted. Will any of our men readers explain why an angler will sit watching and waiting at the water side for hours for a "bite" but if he has to wait a few minutes for dinner he becomes impatient?
